"BAD MAN" IN RAGE.

Ex-Convict Threatens Lives of Jurymen by Whom He Is Convicted of Robbery.
(By Federal Wireline) Line to The Times.
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] "I wish I had a gun and some bullets and I would shoot every one of you," screamed Jerry O'Connor, ex-convict and professional "bad man," as he was convicted in Judge Wing's court here today of holding up and robbing a hotel-keeper of $10 and a diamond stud.

O'Connor, who figured in a sensational attempt to break out of jail while awaiting trial, was convicted of the robbery on the first ballot. As he arose to leave the courtroom he rushed to the jury box and threatened the life of the man who had just brought in the verdict. Deputy sheriff acted him and hurried him to his cell in the County Jail. It is probable that he will get the maximum sentence of fifteen years for his crime and because of his outburst.

CANNOT RESIST PLEA.

Wealthy Kleptomaniac Insists That Automobile Tools and Parts Be Taken Along.
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] "These automobile tools and parts just seemed to be talking to me and to be pleading for me to take them along. I could not resist their pleading," Jerry O'Connor, ex-convict, pleaded today before Judge Wing, son of a rich and prominent family here, for a number of automobile burglar tools he admitted having taken part in ten robberies.

Metzger is rich in his own right, happily married and the fact that he is a confirmed kleptomaniac is the only explanation the police can offer for his acts. According to Metzger's story, he drove around in his own car and stole tires and tools from machines he found standing in the streets. He also entered garages in Woodlawn. He admitted having taken part in ten robberies.

PUPILS DRAW COLOR LINE.

Chicago School Children Strike Against Negro Substitute Teacher, But Parents End the Trouble.
(By Federal Wireline) Line to The Times.
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] Twenty pupils of the Benton school, Wells and Wendell streets, who decided Wednesday to go on a strike unless a colored substitute teacher was removed from room No. 4, are today back in their seats. The strike did not materialize because the parents of the pupils forced them to return to the school.

AGE AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Two Septuagenarians, Each Twice Married Before Decide, to Travel in Double Happiness.
(By Federal Wireline) Line to The Times.
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] A license was issued in the County Clerk's office today for the marriage of two septuagenarians, each of whom has been married twice before. They are Herman Wittenberg, 74 years old, No. 7531 South Wabash avenue, and Mrs. Jennie Wilson, 71 years old, East Seventy-sixth street and Indiana avenue.

MET BY COWBOYS.

Third-Termee Out-Talked for First Time in Career, and a Debs Shouter Did It.
(By A. P. Night Wire to The Times.)
LA GRANDE (Or.) Sept. 12.—When Roosevelt reached La Grande to speak to the United country fair he struck the rail of the Taft speakers for the first time. He was told that John M. Harlan of Chicago and former Congressman Adam Bede of Minnesota were due here shortly after his arrival, and that permission had been asked for them to address the crowd from the same platform immediately after his departure.

BULL MOOSE MIXUP.

Sacramento Wants Third-Termee to Help With Foreign Hope—Oakland Is Real Mad.
(By Direct Wire to The Times.)
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oakland and Sacramento are scrapping over the disposal to be made of Roosevelt's time next Saturday. As arranged in advance the colonel was to have stopped in Sacramento only ten minutes. But Saturday is the first day of the State Fair and the colonel is wanted as a drawing card. Also the local Bull Mooseers feel that they need him for a political purpose.

COMPLETION OF BIG WHARF.

Vessels Purchased for Steamship Line from Monterey Bay to Southern California.
(By Direct Wire to The Times.)
WATSONVILLE (Cal.) Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Commercial wharf, which has been under construction at Port Watsonville since April 4, was completed today. It was built at a cost of more than $100,000. It is the largest on the Pacific Coast, extending into Monterey Bay over 1700 feet. It was built by the Watsonville Navigation and Railroad Company, of which F. E. Snowden is president. The San Francisco Bridge and Construction Company did the actual work.

WOMAN'S QUICK WIT.

She Saves Lives of Passengers When Street Car Motorman Falls in a Pail.
(By Federal Wireline) Line to The Times.
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] The quick wit and steady hand of a woman last night saved a crowded street car from a wild dash down a hill that would have probably ended in the death or injury of a score of people.

VERDE VALLEY HAS RAILROAD.

First Train on New Line

Negro Segregation at Work in Baby State.

(Special Correspondence of the Times.)
PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Sept. 14.—October 1, the first train on the Verde Valley Railroad is scheduled to run to the terminus of Clarksville, with several carloads of structural steel for the new smelter plant of the Verde Valley Copper Company. Less than five miles of track remain to be laid. Just completed is a noble steel span of 150 feet, over a gorge ninety feet deep. This is considered one of the best engineering features of the road though there are miles of side cutting along the river, with long tunnels and many bridges. The scenic attractions of the forty-mile line are described as marvellously beautiful.

OIL IN VERDE VALLEY.
George W. Hance, a well-informed Verde Valley resident, states there is no question but that oil has been struck in three of the wells which have been sunk in that locality lately, but that the quantity of oil found is limited. One company, the Verde Valley, has placed new casing in its well and is again drilling briskly in the hope of finding a gusher at great depth.

A large part of the great Sullivan ranch in Northern Yavapai county has been sold by Jerry Sullivan to R. Evans of Muskogee, Okla., and A. A. Reid of Ash Fork for a sum said to exceed $300,000. The property disposed of includes 20,000 acres south of Selman, with several thousand head of cattle, 500 horses, a herd of reindeer, and a number of ranch buildings. Mr. Sullivan retains the Williamson valley holdings and his interest in the Sullivan Land and Cattle Company.

Hereafter only three justices of the peace will be recognized in the Verde Valley, at Prescott, Ash Fork and Jerome. The change is expected to save about $15,000 a year.

SMALL NEGRO SCHOOLS.
Prescott has recently been the scene of school age and still is under the purview of an act of the Legislature, which calls for the segregation of school children of African descent. So, till directed otherwise by the courts, the five are to be "segregated" by being taught together in a corner of one of the classrooms.

ZOO FOR LOS ANGELES.
President F. M. Murphy of the Santa Fe lines in Arizona, has offered as a gift to the State or to the State Fair Association his "new" maintained for years in the outskirts of Prescott. The State cannot accept for lack of funds, and a proper place for maintenance and it is understood that the collection of animals will now be offered the city of Los Angeles.

Edwin A. Wetmore, aged 55, died at Crown King Monday, of pneumonia. He was engaged at the time of his demise in making an examination of mining property for an eastern company. He ranked high as a mining engineer. Two brothers, Ernest L. and Willis D. Wetmore, reside in Los Angeles.

FARMERS START SUIT.
WATER RIGHTS AT ISSUE.

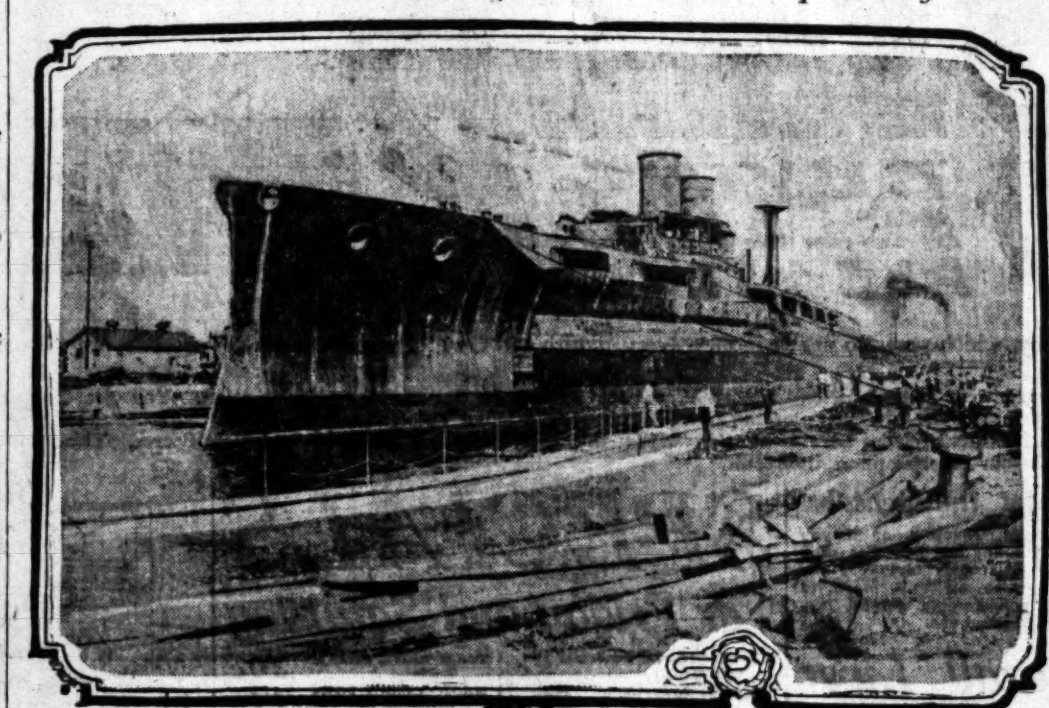

(Special Correspondence of the Times.)
CLIFTON (Ariz.) Sept. 11.—Trouble has arisen between the farmers of the Gila Valley around Safford and those of the upper valley, around Chinle and Outhrie, over rights to the irrigation flow of the Gila River. A general suit to determine irrigation rights has been brought by the farmers of the lower valley, all water users being individually named. This is a procedure which was used successfully on a much larger scale within the Salt River Valley. It is finding much opposition, however, among the Dunsmuir agriculturists who do not propose to have dry lands while water flows in the river past their headquarters. The electric irrigation of the Gila were the Pima Indians around Safford. The water was wrested from their possession by the whites around Florence, who in turn were despoiled by the Mormon settlers around Safford, who again are losing through the appropriation of farmers around Safford and even over in New Mexico.

DUNCAN PRECINCT WET.
Duncan precinct again is "wet" after two years' experience with prohibition, fastened upon the town through the vote of the adjoining village of Franklin. This year Franklin was out on the voting. It may be worthy of note that Duncan is the strongest Democratic precinct in the whole State of Arizona, where at one time the postmaster was the sole defender of the Republican party. Several years ago the postoffice was boycotted by the community and nearly all letters were mailed on the trains. Postmaster Waters then stationed himself by the mail car door of every passing train, to cancel the stamps on all letters handed in and to credit himself with the cancellations. In this he was sustained by direct instructions from the Postoffice Department.

Marshall Lanan, a clerk for the Mendenhall Southern Railroad at Mendenhall, has been arrested, charged with forgery. He is now in custody at the Wells-Fargo agent, he procured two blank express money orders, which he filled out for $50 each and cashed. He is said to have also written checks upon the Gila Valley Bank without providing funds to cover the amounts.

SAN PEDRO.
SAN PEDRO, Sept. 12.—Fire of unknown origin, this morning destroyed the residence, barn and other buildings of A. Thiele, at No. 318 First street. The loss was $1500, with only $700 insurance. The water pressure was unusually low and the local fire department was unable to save any of the property, but prevented the blaze from spreading.

America's Greatest Dreadnought as She Looms Up in Dry Dock.

The Texas in Dock.

America's greatest dreadnought, the Texas, yet uncompleted, was recently docked in the biggest basin in America, at the navy yard, Norfolk, Va. As the big dock, which was recently completed at a cost of more than a million dollars, had never before held a ship as large as the Texas, the dock was watched with considerable interest by naval officers. The Texas was towed to the Norfolk yard from Newport News, Va., by half a dozen tugs. The big ship was in need of a coat of paint on her bottom, and as there was no dock at Newport News big enough to accommodate her, the future dreadnought of the navy was sent to Norfolk.

WASHINGTON WITHDRAWS IN FAVOR OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The Scottish Chapter at Manila is Declared Clandestine, the Indianapolis Convocation Upholding the Grand High Priest in His Decision
Concerning the Philippines.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, today selected San Francisco as the meeting place of the next triennial convocation, which will be held in 1915.

It was the decision of the Grand High Priest in his decision that the Philippines are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the General Grand Chapter of the United States. The incoming General Grand High Priest was instructed to take up the matter diplomatically with the Grand Royal Chapter of Scotland, which has chartered a chapter at Manila. By the action of the General Grand Chapter the Scottish chapter in Manila is declared to be a "clandestine chapter."

WASHINGTON WITHDRAWS.
The State of Washington has been seeking the next convocation, but Grand High Priest Jacobus Jones of that jurisdiction withdrew from the contest, throwing his support to San Francisco, but serving notice that Washington will seek the 1918 meeting. The General Grand Assembly of the General Grand Chapter, Royal and Select Masters, will also be held in San Francisco, as that meeting follows the General Grand Chapter. The time of the 1915 meeting was not fixed, but it probably will be in September.

The report of the General Grand Secretary shows that various grand chapters in the United States belonging to the General Grand Chapter at the close of 1911 had a membership of 181,145 Royal Arch Masons. The available resources of these chapters was $547,092.29.

A committee, of which William F. Cleveland of Iowa is chairman, was appointed to draft resolutions expressing appreciation of the General Chapter of the United States. The resolutions were arranged for the Grand Chapter and the Grand Council of Indiana.

Bernard G. Witt of Henderson, Ky., president of the Grand Chapter, is succeeding Nathan Kingsley of Austin, Tex.

WASHINGTON PRIMARY.
Some Republican and Many Democratic Contests Are in Doubt—Gov.
Ray Renominated.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—Forty-eight hours after the closing of the polls only a guess may be made as to the winner of the Democratic nomination for Governor.

On the Republican side only the Lieutenant-Governorship, Commissioner of Public Lands and Superintendent of Education are unsettled, today's returns having placed D. H. Cox of Walla Walla, candidate for Treasurer, nearly 1000 votes ahead of Edward Meath of Tacoma. Returns from fourteen counties, including the six largest in the State, show the following leaders for the Republican nominations that are in doubt: Lieutenant-Governor, Louis F. Hart, Tacoma; Commissioner of Public Lands, H. P. Niles, Everett; Superintendent of Education, A. E. Burns, Seattle, 17,626 votes, with Mrs. Josephine Preston of Walla Walla, second with 17,023.

Gov. Hay was renominated without opposition. On the Democratic ticket Charles G. Heitner has won the Congressional nomination in the First District. Earnest Lister of Tacoma is leading for Governor.

It appears that none of the seven Democratic candidates for Governor received 40 per cent. of the total Democratic vote. The nomination of J. E. Frost is assured. None of the seven Republican candidates for Lieutenant-Governor received 40 per cent. of the total Republican vote, and second-choice votes must be counted. This situation is favorable to Hugh C. Todd of Seattle.

On the Republican side Henry B. Dewey of Tacoma appears to have won the second nomination for Congress in the first district. The nomination of J. E. Frost is assured. None of the seven Republican candidates for Lieutenant-Governor received 40 per cent. of the total Republican vote, and second-choice votes must be counted to determine whether Louis F. Hart or Charles E. Olson has been nominated.

CAN FIRE ALL HER GUNS ON BROADSIDE AT ONCE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEWPORT NEWS (Va.) Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The battleship Texas, which was launched May 11, will be the superior, for offensive fighting, of any warship yet designed for a foreign navy. In her main battery she will carry ten sixteen-inch guns, arranged in five turrets, each turret mounting two guns. These guns are to be mounted in pairs in electrically-controlled elliptical turrets, located on the center line of the ship. It will be possible to fire all ten of these guns on either broadside.

In the secondary battery there will be twenty-one five-inch rapid-fire guns. These guns are designed to ward off torpedo boats and submarines, and there will also be breech-loading rifles of the latest design. These guns are to be mounted in pairs in electrically-controlled elliptical turrets, located on the center line of the ship. It will be possible to fire all ten of these guns on either broadside. In defensive qualities the Texas is said to be unsurpassed by any ship afloat. Along the water line, extending from a point about 100 feet from the bow to the stern, will be a belt of armor eight feet wide and eleven inches thick above the water line and nine inches thick below the water line along the center part of the ship to protect the engines and boilers. This belt is further advanced than any of the other dreadnoughts now under construction.

PRIVATE LINES EXCEL GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Advantages of the privately-owned railroads of the United States over the government-owned lines of New Zealand, are shown in a statement issued today by S. H. Thompson, chief of the railroad statistics of the United States.

Mr. Thompson's statement was called forth by an article by Charles Edward Russell, which recently appeared in a periodical and which purported to show where local lines were inferior to those of New Zealand.

RABID HOSTILITY.
"Mr. Russell's attitude," said Mr. Thompson, "has always been one of frank and rabid hostility to American railroads. To compare the railroads of the two countries is like comparing a minnow to a leviathan. The vast difference is only faintly expressed by the contrast in the communities they serve and the physical provisions made to handle the passenger and freight traffic of the two countries."

"An intimation is shown by Mr. Russell to overlook shortcomings of those miniature lines, because railroading is not very old in New Zealand, for the first time was not opened until 1851. Railroading is not any older in seventeen States in the Union."

SACRIFICES HER GEMS.

Sickles broke the string that bound the cover to the little box she laid on the pawnshop counter in front of her. Tears ran down her cheeks and her son stood by her side, his head buried. She took them from the box one by one, those memories of the glorious days of youth and romance. There were ropes of pearls, heavy bands of gold set with diamonds and bracelets and brooches of antique design. There was one jewel, a diamond and sapphire bracelet over which she lingered long before parting with it.

Blinded by tears she stretched out her hand to lay this with others which were to be hid away in the money-lender's safe. It fell to the floor and as young Stanton Sickles picked it up and put it in its place, his mother said:
"That was the gift from your father that I loved most. He gave it to me the day you were born."

Mr. Sickles is now 60 years old. She was dressed simply in black and when the money was handed to her by the pawn broker she tucked it in the bosom of her dress and that she walked all the way to the office of

In Spite of Riots State Aid Is Not Requested.

(By Federal Wireless Line to the Times.)
DULUTH (Minn.) Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the second night Duluth is without street car service. Not a single car was moving at 1 o'clock tonight and there seemed no prospect of service of any kind later in the evening. Manager Warren of the traction company ordered all cars into the barns at 7 o'clock, fearing they would be destroyed under cover of darkness by the striking motormen and conductors and their sympathizers.

One hundred extra policemen and deputy sheriffs have been sworn in, but the Chief of Police has made no move as yet to ask for the State militia. Rioting still continues whenever a car makes a dash from the barns.

SUPERIOR (Wis.) Sept. 12.—[Special Dispatch.] Street car service in Superior is at a standstill tonight, 80 per cent. of the employees having affiliated with the union this evening. Only a small percentage of the cars in usual service are now running, and they are operated by new men.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR HEART

Most people who have heart disease do not know it. Most people who think they have heart disease haven't. They only think so. Pain in the heart is mistakenly supposed to be a sign of heart disease.

Just as pain in the back seldom or never indicates kidney trouble, so pain near the heart is seldom present in organic heart disease. This pain is always from the stomach which is connected with heart by many nerves.

When Your Digestion Is Disordered

it often affects the heart and even causes irregularity in its beat. The gas produced by fermentation of food may cause pressure on the heart unpleasantly. But these pains do not mean that you have heart disease or need fear anything else (worry causes and aggravates indigestion) and you will be well and happy.

Tone Up The Stomach

Correct any errors of diet. Eat the right things, not too much of them. If you do not know the right things are, send for our diet book. Don't starve yourself and don't pamper yourself with predigested food and artificial stimulation. Tone up your stomach so it will do its proper work, don't worry about your heart or anything else (worry causes and aggravates indigestion) and you will be well and happy.

By Using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

you get improvement with the first dose. You notice an increase in your appetite. Then you find the food does not distress you, that you are no longer troubled with gas, sour risings in the throat and misleading pains around the heart. Strength, energy return and the rich red blood, bearing the amount of nourishment yielded by food, renewed vitality to every organ of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

MERCHANT IS BROKEN DOWN.

Pasadena Pioneer Suffers Collapse at San Diego.

Family Denies that He Has Lost His Mind.

Fire Chiefs Royally Entertained at a Banquet.

(Office of The Times, 11 S. Fair Oaks ave.)

PASADENA, Sept. 11.—Victor Marsh, proprietor of the curio store at South Raymond avenue and Green streets, that is known by his name, and for eighteen years one of the leading merchants of Pasadena, was brought home from San Diego last night by friends in an automobile and taken to his home, at the corner of Colorado street and Stevenson avenue.

A dispatch from San Diego states that he went violently insane there, but this was denied last night, both by his attorney, George F. Cary, and his physician, Dr. Henry Sherry.

"Mr. Marsh is simply suffering from a nervous breakdown, similar to one that he had about six months ago," said Cary. "He has not been in very good health. He went to San Diego on a business trip, and thought also that the trip might improve his condition, which, however, was not such that he was unable to attend to his business. I have no doubt that he will be all right in two weeks' time."

Dr. Sherry later last night said: "Mr. Marsh is in a highly nervous condition, but at a first examination I do not believe that he can have lost his reason. I do not regard his condition as serious."

Marsh, who is a man about 50 years of age, and who has a wife and family, has lived in Pasadena for eighteen years. He is one of the veteran business men of the city and has many friends. For years it was his custom to make annual trips to Japan, where he procured rare and costly curios and Japanese goods, such as tea, lacquer, etc. Of recent years, however, he had not been to Japan.

FIRE CHIEFS ENTERTAINED.

The automobilists who took the visiting fire chiefs about the city yesterday afternoon made slower time than the firemen are accustomed to make in their own automobiles and rigs, but no fault was found. The rugged fire fighters were quite content to gaze at the sights in a leisurely manner. Under the direction of Chief Clifford, of the Pasadena fire department, they were shown the more attractive avenues and boulevards of the city, and the Busch gardens.

At 8 o'clock all assembled at the Hotel Maryland, where a banquet took place. Mayor Thum made the address of welcome, calling attention to the small fire losses sustained by the city in recent years.

"This is all advertising, of course," he said. "But you do the same in your towns. I speak for Chief Clifford, who doesn't say anything because he is not among firemen, but who has not neglected to call the attention of others to our record."

"We people of the Pacific Coast have fire chiefs whom we are proud of; fire chiefs whose thoughts run on saving life and property, rather than their own reputations."

The Mayor was followed by Rev. Daniel P. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational Church, who opened his remarks with the advice that if a church were on fire the first thing to do is to take out the organ, because the firemen cannot play on it, and followed this up with a succession of anecdotes and stories that caused much laughter and brought rounds of applause.

There were several other speakers. The party of visitors numbered over one hundred. Among them were many of the city's "wires."

The music-room of the Maryland Hotel, where the dinner took place, was decorated with pieces of floral fire apparatuses and red fire burned on the outside of the building so that its light was reflected through the window onto the tables.

PRINTING FOR CHILDREN.

A course in type "stickers" for pupils of the Pasadena High School will be one of the novel additions to the course of study this winter. A class in printing will be established with the beginning of the school term, on the 13th inst.

W. R. Morris, who is to be the instructor, was formerly connected with the Whittier News, of that city. Recently he has resided in Berkeley, from which place he arrived yesterday.

The plan of the Board of Education is to equip a plant at the expense of about $150,000. The plant will consist of six pupils. The instructor will spend the day in the plant instructing one class after another. It is believed by the school authorities that the setting of type, besides being a practical branch of knowledge, will add the children in becoming more efficient in their orthography.

SEWER PLANT PROPOSED.

A proposal to build a sewage purification plant in the neighborhood of $50,000 is now under discussion by Mayor Thum, City Health Officer Black and others of the city officials. In a statement the Mayor issued yesterday he declared, in part:

"Pasadena will probably be called upon to spend varying amounts of money for a sewage purification plant. No simple, cheap method that may occur to any layman after a few minutes' thought will be likely to suffice. We positively cannot avoid building such a purification plant, and if we are not careful Pasadena will waste a great deal of money without satisfactory results."

TARANTULA BITES MAN.

Joseph Salvatore, a workman, was bitten by a tarantula yesterday while clearing brush from the Landerman ranch in La Canada. He was taken to the County Hospital in Los Angeles, where he is reported to be in a serious condition.

The tarantula crawled up the inside of one leg of the man's trousers and bit him on the thigh. Many tarantulas have been seen in La Canada recently.

ANNEXATION QUESTION.

Talk of the annexation of South Pasadena by this city has been revived. Local newspapers yesterday gave considerable space to the subject, printing interviews with E. V. Sutton, president of the South Pasadena Board of Trustees; John D. Reavis, president of the Chamber of Commerce there, and Mayor Thum of Pasadena.

"Pasadena would gladly welcome South Pasadena," the Mayor is quoted as saying. "But of course the annexation must come from our neighbor to the south."

CITY BRIEFS.

A public swimming exhibition will be given at the Young Men's Christian Association building tonight. For several weeks past small boys of the city who cannot swim have been welcome guests at the gymnasium, until many of them have learned how to keep themselves afloat.

A. A. Dennison, secretary of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, and a representative of the Anti-Annexation League of Alameda county, was in Pasadena yesterday in the interests of the anti-annexation movement. The Pasadena Ohio Society will picnic next Thursday on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Giddings, No. 1311 East Colorado street.

LAMP POST STYLES DISCUSSED.

Inter-city Commission Sips Tea at Christopher's and Talk About Cost of the Project.

Twenty-three people, members of the San Gabriel Valley Inter-city Commission, and representatives of utilities firms were present at a luncheon at Christopher's, No. 651 South Broadway, in the French room, yesterday, when the "Lighted Way" was discussed. Material men have been invited to be present to explain the cost of concrete and iron posts, globes, conduits, power, etc., and the key to the place of entertainment from a representative of the Edison company, "more light means more power." He also said that they would co-operate by means of a lower rate—unofficially he thought a rate of 5 cents per kilowatt hour could be obtained.

A representative from the General Electric Company said that Maglite arc lights were being used in the most up-to-date street lighting in cities, but he suggested for long country stretches, because of the difficulty of maintenance, a multiple incandescent system, with reflectors on top of the lights, and a salvaged conduit system as cheaper and more efficient. It was brought out that globes could be bought in large quantities at a reduction of several dollars, to the property holders who will bear the expense of the system.

Concrete and iron posts were discussed, and prices quoted ran from $25 to $50, and concrete from $8 to $25. It was suggested at the meeting that posts be of the mission design, of a character of the San Gabriel Valley.

A valuable test is being made this week by an expert in Alhambra under the supervision of the Board of Trustees, to determine the actual cost of a concrete post, and Mr. Randall stated that concrete bought in large quantities could be purchased for a very reasonable figure.

It was the sentiment of the meeting that the lighted way should be continued throughout the entire valley. The new county charter was discussed, to determine the actual cost of a concrete post, and Mr. Randall stated that concrete bought in large quantities could be purchased for a very reasonable figure.

The commission also favors the election of seven of five Supervisors as proposed, and the dividing of the county into at least two districts. It recorded itself in favor of the civil service system, but advocated that three names instead of one be submitted to the voters of each district.

When asked for the names of the eligible list were names for. The members of the committee present were John D. Reavis, Arthur Noble, L. N. Smith, Robert Jordan, O. W. Mauley, G. E. Glover, Don F. Gates, H. J. Mueller and S. C. Simons.

John J. Hernan is now manager of Hotel del Coronado.

PLENADES UNDER OWN STEAM.

Freighter Which Went Ashore Near Magdalena Bay Due to Arrive at San Pedro Port.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 11.—Bates & Cheesbrough's big freighter, Piedad, Capt. Armstrong, which went ashore near Magdalena Bay on August 19, en route from San Pedro to Balboa, Panama, and which was floated last Sunday, is due to arrive in the outer harbor tonight, according to a wireless message received late this afternoon from Capt. A. P. Pillsbury, Inspector for Marine Underwriters' Association of San Francisco, by Port Pilot Krog, who will meet the disabled steamer upon her arrival.

The Piedad is making the run up from Magdalena Bay under her own steam and will probably proceed for San Francisco tomorrow.

Capt. Pillsbury, to whom is given credit for saving the ship, reports that there are no serious leaks and that the only apparent damage to the hull is the hole in the forepeak, which has been previously reported.

The machinery and propeller are in good working condition and the only trouble is a damaged rudder. The lumber was the only part of the cargo sacrificed in saving the ship. All the merchandise loaded here and at San Francisco is still in the hold and in good condition.

Capt. Pillsbury reports that the Piedad's wireless proved of great assistance in the work of saving the ship. The wireless operator on the ship is George Bennett. This is young Bennett's first trip to sea, and if he had only been aboard a crack passenger liner, instead of a useful but unlovely freighter, he would have been hailed here as a hero. He not only stuck to his post from the time the ship ran ashore until it was floated, but he handled his talking gear with the skill of a veteran and contributed at least a share to Capt. Pillsbury's victory over the hungry quicksands.

When Capt. Pillsbury arrived at the scene of the wreck the Piedad was laying broadside to the beach and dug a deep bed for herself in the sand. It was generally believed that this bed would be the Piedad's grave. The Whitely wrecking steamer Greenwood, which was sent from San Francisco, brought heavy moorings and wire hawsers, which were used by Pillsbury in dragging the vessel first out of her bed of sand and then into deep water.

After the Piedad has been overhauled and repaired she will again enter the Panama trade.

REAVIS SENDS INVITATION.

Venice Officials Invited to Protest Against City and County Consolidation—Short News Stories.

VENICE, Sept. 12.—City officials today received an invitation from John D. Reavis, president of the San Gabriel Valley Inter-city Commission, to protest against the proposed city and county consolidation scheme by appearing at a giant meeting of a representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening. Although the local officials and most of the citizens are opposed to outright annexation to Los Angeles, they are apathetic about the county consolidation measure, and may not attend the meeting.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A seagull, spying fish swimming in a tank of the aquarium on the pier this afternoon, dove through a pane in a glass door on the western side of the building, breaking both wings and shattering the glass. Carl Herlinger, who was nearby, caught the bird, and it is now an unwilling guest of the place.

The capacity of the fire-fighting equipment on the Kinney pier will be doubled immediately by the addition of eight laterals and valves, radiating from under the ship cafe. It is planned to install any hose that may originate in any of the buildings or on the pier. A lesson has been learned from the Ocean Park fire, and the mains will be so arranged that salt water streams may be turned off any section, thus giving the remainder full pressure.

A German village is being erected on the edge of the lagoon at the junction of Lion and Grand canals. This will be the place of entertainment for the German Volkfest, which is to be held here September 21 and 22, when native of that country co-operate by means of a lower rate—unofficially he thought a rate of 5 cents per kilowatt hour could be obtained.

Police Sergeant William Cavanaugh is the father of a movement for the installation in Venice of a refrigerating or pre-cooling plant to reduce the high cost of living. Cavanaugh thinks that if it is done, he can give an opportunity to store their fruit and vegetables in a cool place that would make the food dispensers who charge high prices for foods out of season.

NOT ONE WILL DESERT.

Ocean Park With Splendid Spirit Takes Up the Work of Reconstruction—Fire Districts Extended.

OCEAN PARK, Sept. 12.—The declaration by members of the Chamber of Commerce, that not one burned-out merchant or contractor would desert Ocean Park is well supported by the great activity in building along Trolleyway, Marine street and Pier avenue of temporary structures to house the thousands of enterprises until their new fire-proof structures are finished in the old locations.

Trolleyway north of Pier avenue presents the appearance of a mining town after a rich strike. Over 200 carpenters are busy erecting wooden buildings, a long row of which will be finished by Sunday. The revolving cafe, the "Little Casino," and other well-known structures of the old Ocean Park, are being erected in miniature. Trolleyway has become the new pleasure promenade, and the board walk west of Pier avenue along the Pacific Electric tracks the most-used walk in Ocean Park.

Great enthusiasm marks the work of the amusement men and merchants as they plan new and better structures. At a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce building tonight, the Building Committee of Santa Monica met owners, builders and architects, and the proposed new buildings were thoroughly discussed.

The man who lost most in the fire of district No. 1, to include all the portion of the city between the Venice line and Hill street. They want nothing but the best streets and buildings here, and the Building Committee will frame an ordinance along those lines.

The mother of Mrs. John Edinbaugh, mother of Mrs. Kirk, died last night at her home, No. 1124 Oregon avenue. She had been in good health all evening, but suddenly taken ill about 11 o'clock. She was 50 years of age, and was well known here.

F. Vieweg, father of Ernest Vieweg, died yesterday morning at his home in San Bernardino. His son was with him when he died. He was 71 years of age, and his death was probably hastened by the demise of his wife, who died three months ago.

Famous Landmark.

Railway Genius May Purchase Hotel Wentworth.

Three-fourths of a Million Incumbrances.

Would Complete and Beautify the Edifice.

Once again the most famous hoodoo hotel in America, the Wentworth, at Pasadena, has come into the limelight with the announcement that H. E. Huntington may soon become owner of the much-tilted property.

Esthetic reasons, more than desire for financial gain, are given as the cause of interest on the part of the traction magnate, and he admitted as much when seen at the Jonathan Club last evening.

"I have not purchased the Wentworth as yet, he said. 'Through the William R. Staats Company I have made an offer of a lump sum to all of the various claimants who have interests. There has never been a better time than the present to make this offer because of the fact that they have resolved themselves into three groups.'

"It would be premature for me to say that I have purchased the hotel. The controlling interests have been given thirty days to consider the offer and to accept or reject it."

When the amount was asked, Huntington said he is not at liberty to give the exact figure, but the outstanding incumbrances against the hotel approximate $1,500,000.

IN A TANGLE.
The title ownership of the property is in the hands of the Southern Trust Company, which last January at public auction paid $158,518.65 to obtain title. In addition there is a bonded indebtedness of $150,000, delinquent taxes in the neighborhood of $100,000, judgment amounting to $100,000 and claims of creditors who hold assigned certificates approximating $100,000.

My offer, he said, has taken these things into consideration and covers the matter fully as I see it," Mr. Huntington said. Asked whether he proposed to operate the hotel through a competent manager or lease it, he said:

"I am not going into the hotel business as yet and all I will do is put the hotel in fit and proper condition to be turned over to competent persons with this community, much as I have long been a blot on the landscape and should I secure the ownership of the office of city inspector he will be given that position, with the exception of keeping tab on every form of commodity, including gas and electricity. It is proposed that the hotel will be gas and electric meters as well as milk, meat, ice cream and nuisances reports."

At frequent intervals the inspector will inspect gas for heat units and pressure. The city will establish the standard, and any failure to meet this standard will call for a fine. A standard of voltage and candle power will also be established for the guidance of electric companies. Experts claim that the enforcement of a standard for gas and electricity will absolutely solve the real question of economy, and that the price of gas and electricity will be reduced.

Faxon will also inspect cement, and he paid a fee of $5 from the dealers for each such inspection. The plan was drawn up by City At-Large C. L. Allison since his salary for such work is $100 a month. It is claimed that he is fully qualified to fill every one of the important duties called for in the proposed ordinance.

WILL SUBMIT REPORT.
The board of managers of the Southern California State Hospital at Patton will submit a report to the State Board of Control in which an appropriation by the next Legislature of $50,000 for new buildings and maintenance of the institution will be asked. Of this large sum $25,000 will be for new buildings and furnishings. It is believed that extensive building will be necessary in order to provide accommodations for the large increase in the number of patients which the next few months will bring. The plan is to build many additional cottages, the cottage plan having been found more in keeping with present-day methods of treating dementia.

CONTEST COMPROMISED.
The will contest brought by relatives to break the will of Mrs. Emma C. Ingersoll of Roma, N. Y., has been compromised, and Stephen E. Bailey of this city has been given letters of administration. Bailey was her business manager. Last winter Mrs. Ingersoll spent at Redlands. She died en route home. Her will was a surprise as she left the larger portion of her vast fortune to Bailey. During the early summer a commission set at Redlands for two weeks taking depositions for and against the contestants of the will.

WOMAN BURNED.
Mrs. Dwight Bryant, nee Lillie Meacham, was painfully burned today at her home at E. 1st and E. 2nd streets, when her clothing took fire from a gas stove. Only her presence of mind prevented fatal burns. Rushing from the house she managed to tear off her burning apron, and neighbors tore off other garments, and quickly wrapping a blanket about her, she was taken to the hospital. She is a bride of six weeks.

HUNTER TREED BY A BIG BUCK.

San Bernardino Man Has a Hazardous Day.

City Inspector Will Glance at the Gas Meters.

Patton Asylum Will Ask for Big Appropriation.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 12.—George Delamater, deer hunter, was treed for twenty-four hours by a big buck in the south fork of Lytle Creek. Only the arrival of other hunters saved the marooned man from dropping from his perch in a tree into the water, 200 feet below. He was in would treed out and leave. The buck had come out and leave. The buck had come out and leave. The buck had come out and leave.

Delamater had surprised the buck feeding quietly with several does and fawns. He fired at the graceful animal, which at once charged upon him. The high-power rifle clogged in the excitement of the instant, and to save himself from his angry foe, Delamater threw away his rifle, and fled.

He quickly scaled a tree, growing out over the precipice. There he waited helplessly, thinking his captor would tire out and leave. The buck remained a short distance of the tree all the afternoon, and during the night the hunter thought the buck had departed, and he climbed down.

He had no sooner reached the ground than the deer charged upon him from the brush upon him. He felt it not breath before he could scramble back to his perch. There he remained all night. Below him lay the rough boulders and deep pools. To drop meant death.

The following party took several shots at the buck, but it escaped, evidently realizing that the numbers were against it. Delamater found that the buck had not gone more than fifty feet from the tree all night. This was indicated in the tracks where the animal had come back and forth.

CITY INSPECTOR.
H. C. Faxon has been appointed by the City Council as assistant health officer, and as soon as the necessary ordinance can be adopted creating the office of city inspector he will be given that position, with the exception of keeping tab on every form of commodity, including gas and electricity. It is proposed that the hotel will be gas and electric meters as well as milk, meat, ice cream and nuisances reports.

GANG FACING INDICTMENTS.

Grand Jury Busy on Machine Work at the Polls.

"Progressive Victory" to Be Sifted to Bottom.

Mass of Evidence for Eyes of Investigators.

The grand jury yesterday morning commenced its investigation of the charges that scores of "Progressive" leaders and election officials openly violated the law in the recent primary in their desperate effort to make a clean sweep of the Lissner machine's candidates in the city and county. Sentential exposures which will throw new light on the methods of vote getting by the Johnson-Lissner outfit are expected. Secrecy marks the work of the investigators, but it is current that when their work is done a number of Roosevelt hero-worshippers of standing in the community will be involved. Col. William H. Holabird, receiver for the California Development Company, was the first witness before the grand jury yesterday. Col. Holabird recently swore to an affidavit that J. L. Wheat, while acting as a "Progressive" election judge in Precinct No. 34, handed out third-term literature and posters to Dr. Milbank Johnson and other voters in the polling place of that precinct on election day. Other witnesses were Dr. Milbank Johnson and Oscar L. Horn, an attorney. Deputy District Attorney Joe is handling the matter for the District Attorney's office.

MASS OF EVIDENCE.

He has a mass of evidence purporting to show that the members of the Goo-Goo machine brazenly violated the election law in over 300 precincts in the city and county in carrying out the plot to steal the election. Joe intimated yesterday that scores of election officials and Lissner machine workers will be subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury and tell why they handed out "Progressive" literature and marked ballots in the polling places, as charged by many Republicans and interested citizens. Numerous complaints have also been received by the District Attorney's office that election officials in certain precincts, when warned that they were violating the law, declared that they received the literature with the supplies sent from the County Clerk's office. "We are going to sift these charges to the bottom," said Joe yesterday afternoon. "The grand jurors are determined to get all the evidence so that if the law was violated the guilty men may be punished. Of any of the charges are true it is practically certain that legal proceedings will be instituted against the offenders. Anyone who violates the election law of the State commits a serious crime and it is up to the grand jury and District Attorney's office to see that proper punishment is meted out."

MORE EVIDENCE.

Joe is busy gathering still more evidence and hopes to have it in proper shape to present to the grand jury when it meets next Thursday. In all probability a number of the election officials in the various precincts where the political trickery was practiced will be called to appear on that day. "Any citizen who has any evidence against election officials will confer a great favor upon the District Attorney's office by calling me up and giving the information," said Joe. "A great many complaints were filed on election day, but their names were not taken down for future reference. I have received a number of reports that the law was violated in Long Beach."

GRAND ARMY'S EVENTS TODAY.

Today is known as San Diego Day in the week's program for the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The southern city will hold open house all day for veterans desiring to visit it and a liberal schedule of trains will run to and from Los Angeles over the Santa Fe for their accommodation. Practically the entire day will be taken up with business sessions of the four national conventions now in progress—the Grand Army encampment at Temple Auditorium, the Woman's Relief Corps at Gold-Berg-Bosley Hall, the Ladies of the G.A.R. at Blanchard Hall and the Daughters of Veterans at the Y.M.C.A. The Army Nurses will receive at the Westminster from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening and the Knights of Columbus campfire will be held at Blanchard Hall at 8 o'clock. The Massachusetts Society will give an informal reception in honor of visiting veterans from that State at Mammoth Hall, No. 517 South Broadway, at 8 o'clock.

ASSESSORS' FOREGATHERING.

Puzzling Problems and Discussion of New Legislation Order of Business—Poll Tax Issue. County Assessor Hopkins began to prepare yesterday for the gathering early in October of the Assessors of all counties below the Tehachapi, who will meet here in a two days' session and discuss the convention of the State Assessors' Association, which will be held in Los Angeles about December 1. The convention last year was held in San Francisco and according to custom, the date and programme were prepared by the Assessor of that county. Hopkins will perform the same office this year, after the conference next month. At both gatherings papers will be read and there will be a discussion of problems confronting assessors and new legislation that complicates their offices. The proposed abolition of the poll tax will make matters lively among the county assessors. In many of the counties the old fee system is in vogue, and it is expected Assessor will be loth to see the tax abolished.

WOMEN FIRST TO BALLOT BOX.

Ladies of G.A.R. and W.R.C. Choose New Leaders.

Mrs. Friebe and Mrs. Jones National Presidents.

Two Californians Are Among the Officers Named.

Of the four great national conventions of the Grand Army and its auxiliary bodies now in progress in this city the National Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G.A.R.

Mrs. Friebe, National President of the W.R.C.

Mrs. Jones, National President of the G.A.R.

Mrs. Catherine Ross, National Treasurer of the G.A.R.

National W.R.C. and Ladies of the G.A.R. Officers. Elected yesterday afternoon to succeed the present heads of the great women's organizations now in convention in this city. These are all that have so far been elected, balloting on the other officers to be taken up this morning.

The balloting for National President of the W.R.C. resulted late yesterday afternoon in the choice of Mrs. Catherine E. Friebe of San Mateo, Cal., to succeed Mrs. Cora M. Davis, retiring president.

The Ladies of the G.A.R. elected Mrs. Ella S. Jones of Pittsburgh as their new National President, succeeding Mrs. Catherine Ross. The convention of the Ladies of the G.A.R. elected yesterday afternoon are: Mrs. Edith B. Brown of Pacific Grove, Cal., national senior vice-president; Mrs. Nellie McMillen, Leavenworth, Kan., national treasurer; Mrs. Martha F. Gilmore, Lynn, Mass., national chaplain, and Mrs. Catherine Ross, retiring national president, national counselor.

Mrs. Friebe is the first California woman to hold the highest office in the W.R.C. since the election of Mrs. Elizabeth D'Arcy Kinn, in 1886. Mrs. Friebe, though a resident of San Mateo, was an all-California candidate and won easily over Mrs. Mc-corps president and for twelve more years vice-president of the Woman's Relief Corps Home Association of California. She has also been department president, department counselor, national senior vice-president, chairman of the national executive board, and national inspector, as well as vice-president of the National Council of Women.

RENOUNCES CLAIM. That the claims of hospitality have more weight than the call of ambition was beautifully exemplified in the election of the Ladies of the G.A.R. when Mrs. Edith B. Brown of Pacific Grove, Cal., withdrew her name as a candidate for the national presidency in favor of Mrs. Ella S. Jones of Pittsburgh, with the result that Mrs. Jones was elected to the office by a unanimous vote. Mrs. Brown is a past president of the Department of California and Nevada, and had a strong backing, but, as she expressed it, she felt that her claims as candidate should not be

Grand Army Encampment Split on Important Issue.

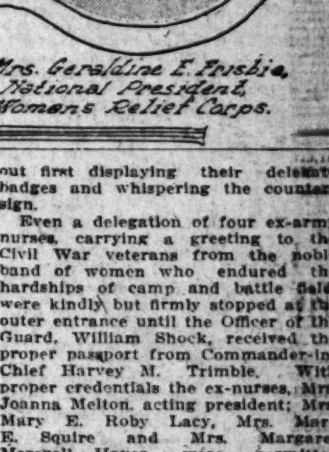

Special Session Called to Deal With Question.

Next Meeting Place and New Heads Chosen Today.

Reluctantly foregoing the manifold pleasures provided for it by the hospitable citizens of Los Angeles, the blue-clad army of peace which has invaded California and entrenched itself in the heart of the community, yesterday took up the serious work of the forty-sixth national encampment in the opening session, at Temple Auditorium. The great hall was fittingly decorated for the occasion. From every ceiling beam fluttered patriotic bunting, and from 300 staffs scattered throughout the auditorium, waved the national emblem. The military character of the organization at once was apparent from the armed sentinels at the outer entrance, who sternly required the countersign, to the splendid garb and dangling sword of George C. Sargent, officer of the day. Military exactness was noticeable in every proceeding. Dignified Grand Army veterans, men who had commanded companies and even brigades in the Civil War, were confronted with crossed guns and sternly ordered back when they attempted to enter the auditorium with-

Grand Army's Events Today.
Today is known as San Diego Day in the week's program for the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The southern city will hold open house all day for veterans desiring to visit it and a liberal schedule of trains will run to and from Los Angeles over the Santa Fe for their accommodation. Practically the entire day will be taken up with business sessions of the four national conventions now in progress—the Grand Army encampment at Temple Auditorium, the Woman's Relief Corps at Gold-Berg-Bosley Hall, the Ladies of the G.A.R. at Blanchard Hall and the Daughters of Veterans at the Y.M.C.A. The Army Nurses will receive at the Westminster from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening and the Knights of Columbus campfire will be held at Blanchard Hall at 8 o'clock. The Massachusetts Society will give an informal reception in honor of visiting veterans from that State at Mammoth Hall, No. 517 South Broadway, at 8 o'clock.

Assessors' Foregathering.
Puzzling Problems and Discussion of New Legislation Order of Business—Poll Tax Issue. County Assessor Hopkins began to prepare yesterday for the gathering early in October of the Assessors of all counties below the Tehachapi, who will meet here in a two days' session and discuss the convention of the State Assessors' Association, which will be held in Los Angeles about December 1. The convention last year was held in San Francisco and according to custom, the date and programme were prepared by the Assessor of that county. Hopkins will perform the same office this year, after the conference next month. At both gatherings papers will be read and there will be a discussion of problems confronting assessors and new legislation that complicates their offices. The proposed abolition of the poll tax will make matters lively among the county assessors. In many of the counties the old fee system is in vogue, and it is expected Assessor will be loth to see the tax abolished.

Petition Acts as Boomerang.
Guardsmen who signed paper may be dismissed. Regimental officers displeased at hasty action of men in asking dismissal of Santa Monica company—fear wrath of attorney-general. Signers of the petition to Adjt.-Gen. Forbes, lately circulated among enlisted men of the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., to procure the dismissal of Co.

Women First to Ballot Box.
Ladies of G.A.R. and W.R.C. choose new leaders. Mrs. Friebe and Mrs. Jones national presidents. Two Californians are among the officers named. Of the four great national conventions of the Grand Army and its auxiliary bodies now in progress in this city the National Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G.A.R.

Strike Fire on Incorporation.
Grand Army encampment split on important issue. Special session called to deal with question. Next meeting place and new heads chosen today. Reluctantly foregoing the manifold pleasures provided for it by the hospitable citizens of Los Angeles, the blue-clad army of peace which has invaded California and entrenched itself in the heart of the community, yesterday took up the serious work of the forty-sixth national encampment in the opening session, at Temple Auditorium. The great hall was fittingly decorated for the occasion. From every ceiling beam fluttered patriotic bunting, and from 300 staffs scattered throughout the auditorium, waved the national emblem. The military character of the organization at once was apparent from the armed sentinels at the outer entrance, who sternly required the countersign, to the splendid garb and dangling sword of George C. Sargent, officer of the day. Military exactness was noticeable in every proceeding. Dignified Grand Army veterans, men who had commanded companies and even brigades in the Civil War, were confronted with crossed guns and sternly ordered back when they attempted to enter the auditorium with-

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.
The Municipal Railroad Commission adopted resolutions yesterday against granting a franchise to the Pacific Electric on San Pedro street and asked the City Council to allow the Board of Public Works to use the $5000 provided in the municipal budget for the preliminary railroad in preliminary work.

The Harbor Commission announced yesterday that it has sent to the War Department a recommendation that the changes in harbor lines at Wilmington asked by the Banning Company be granted, and that the plans for slips and wharves made by Engineer Goodrich will be followed.

State Labor Commissioner Lyon yesterday stated that he has evidence that the Standard American Dredging Company is working its men more than eight hours a day on the harbor dredging, and he will ask the City Auditor today to withhold warrants on this work until the matter is settled.

The Southern Pacific yesterday presented to a Council committee plans for moving the double tracks on Alameda street from the center to the east side of the street, thereby adding more than eleven feet of space for the use of vehicle traffic.

A constable of San Fernando who appeared in the Superior Court yesterday to answer a youth he was charged with stealing a ride on a train, was made the young man's probation officer.

SCHAFFER PLAN
TURNED DOWN.

MUNICIPAL RAILROAD BOARD
NOT IMPRESSED.
Decides to File Offer to Construct City Road to Harbor and Belt Line for Five Per Cent. Above Cost Less Net Income from Traffic Until Paid.

At an executive session of the Municipal Railroad Commission yesterday forenoon, Frank Schaffer, who states that he represents capitalists who are ready to advance all the money necessary for municipal railroad building, but refuses to divulge the names, presented to the board his plans, but they were not received with enthusiasm. After hearing them the board voted to file Schaffer's proposition.

The Schaffer offer was to build the complete line from the Plaza to San Pedro, and a belt line if desired, and then receive in payment therefor the cost of construction and 5 per cent. additional, less the net income from traffic until such time as the city can pay the debt.

A resolution was adopted declaring that inasmuch as the construction of the municipal railroad is about to be commenced, the commission is opposed to granting a franchise on San Pedro street to the Pacific Electric.

A fact that the new budget for the current fiscal year contains an item of $5000 for the benefit of the municipal railroad was presented, but it was stated that City Auditor Myers had received no notice of any action placing the control of this fund with any officer or board.

The Railroad Commission decided that money from this fund should be used for preliminary work on the proposed municipal railroad, and adopted a resolution asking the City Council to place the $5000 at the disposal of the Board of Public Works, and that this board be authorized to make such expenditure therefrom as may be necessary for the purposes of preliminary work on the proposed municipal line, and declared that while he had no idea that it would pay its expenses for the first two years of its operation, it would be a highly valuable asset to the city.

Gregson declared that by 1915 the territory within a radius of 100 miles of Los Angeles will be shipping 75,000 carloads of fruit, and that at least 35,000 carloads of this will go by way of the Panama Canal. He stated that 35 per cent. of the ships plying in Southern California, and presented many figures to sustain his argument that the proposed municipal railroad would get a large share of business.

Within a comparatively short time options that were secured by John T. Martin, the city's right-of-way agent, will expire, and for this reason the Municipal Railroad Commission is anxious to get some definite work started on the project.

WILL FOLLOW PLANS.
AGREEMENT WITH BANNINGS.

The Harbor Commission will follow the Goodrich plans for the construction of wharves and slips at Wilmington. An agreement has been reached between the special committee from the Harbor Advisory Board and the Banning interests whereby the latter will be allowed to construct a breakwater or levee from Willes street to a point at the foot of Alameda street, thus giving them the docking facilities which they have contended they were entitled to, and by return the Bannings are not to protest against the city establishing the harbor lines as proposed to provide for the Goodrich plans for wharves and slips.

The Harbor Commissioners have sent to the Secretary of War, through Col. McNulty, a statement that the board has considered the proposed construction of harbor lines suggested by the Banning Company and others, and that it agrees thereto and asks that the proposed changes be made.

World Park Street Space.
Adolphus Busch appeared before the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday and asked that the stub end of West Alameda street, extending from Avenue 20 to Front street, be abandoned and revert to the properties owned there by Busch. He said Busch would like the land to trees and make it a beauty spot.

The Board of Public Works has placed a valuation of $2500 on the public lands to be paid on the basis of the valuation would make it necessary for Busch to pay the city the sum of $2472, as there are 13,680 square feet in the section of street he wants abandoned. This price he considers excessive, but the committee could see no reason for allowing it to go at a lower rate, and when the parking was urged as an incentive it was suggested that Busch might improve the strip of land with a garden under city control, if he so desired.

The committee decided to return the application and protest to the Board of Public Works, so it may review its action and scale down the price if so inclined.

Says Law Is Violated.
Henry H. Lyon, State Labor Commissioner, stated yesterday that he will today make demands upon the City Auditor that the warrants for at least ten laborers on the Standard American Dredging Company's contract for dredging the harbor be held up until the commissioner has filed charges against the company.

Lyon alleges that the company has been working its men more than eight hours a day, contrary to State law, and that he has secured definite evidence in this regard so far as ten of these laborers are concerned. The penalty for such violation is $10 per day per man.

Tunnel-Extension Plans.
Councilman McKenzie yesterday presented to the Streets and Boulevards Committee petitions for the extension of the Hill-street tunnel from Temple street to Sunset boulevard, and the committee recommended that the City Engineer be instructed to prepare a map of the proposed assessment district and plans and specifications for the tunnel extension.

The petition contained the signatures of 45 property owners of that vicinity. Councilman McKenzie stated yesterday that the proposed tunnel extension will be 925 feet in length, but that it will be much less expensive in proportion to its length than the first section, from First street to Temple street. This section is to cost $127,000.

That Hospital Ordinance.
Chief Inspector of Buildings Backus and Chief Deputy City Attorney Robertson were instructed by the Legislation Committee of the Council yesterday to have the ordinance providing for fireproof hospitals within a period of three years ready for presentation October 3. Although much time has been given this subject in hearings before the committee, it is probable that when the ordinance finally goes before the Council a strong effort will be made by those particularly interested to have its provisions modified so as to apply only to future construction.

Injunction in the Way.
When the proposition to open and widen First street from Hill street to its full width by cutting down the high hill on the northerly side went before the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday, Chief Deputy City Attorney Robertson announced that it is useless to undertake any proceedings of this character until the mandatory injunction issued by the Superior Court and prohibiting the further cutting of the hill is dissolved.

South Main-Street Paving.
The property owners on South Main street filed new petitions with the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday, asking that in the proceedings for the paving of South Main from Thirty-sixth place to Manchester avenue, a strip eighteen feet wide be left unpaved in the center of the street, so that it can be used for street railway construction.

The petition was referred to the City Engineer for checking of frontage presented. The filers of the petition stated to the committee working with officials of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation in an effort to induce the company to bid on a franchise as proposed by Councilman Andrews, to extend from Thirty-sixth place to Manchester avenue. The railway only agreed to make an extension as far south as Slauson avenue.

At this meeting that a plan might be evolved whereby a single track could be extended west from Slauson to Manchester.

Move Tracks on Alameda.
The Southern Pacific's engineering department yesterday presented to the Streets and Boulevards Committee a plan for the improvement of Alameda street from Third to Sixth, by the removal of the tracks now in the center of the street to the west side. This would add 11.5 feet to the street space available for vehicle traffic and if the change is to be made the Southern Pacific officials want to do it before the street paving is undertaken. The committee longed upon the project with favor, but sent it to the Board of Public Works for a recommendation.

City Must Pay County.
Formal notice was served upon the Board of Public Works yesterday by the County Highway Commissioner, that it has completed section four of the Redondo-Wilmington road across the Shoreline Strip located within the city, and asking for its acceptance by the Public Works Board and the payment of the sum of $5,523.55, as the city's share of the expense.

Park Ready for Visitors.
Hollenbeck lake, in Hollenbeck Park, which has been dry for several months, pending the construction of a storm drain underneath the bed of the lake, and also the construction of the concrete foundations for the new boathouse to be constructed on the east side of the lake, will be full of water by Sunday, and the public is invited to visit the park and view the improvements. The Park Commission will build the new boathouse by day's labor, and will commence at once on this structure, for which an appropriation of $7500 has been made. The storm drain cost $11,200.

Desires Uniform Tools.
Charles Johnson, representing the manufacturers of one of the principal makes of auto horns, appeared before the Legislative Committee of the City Council yesterday and urged that an ordinance be framed requiring a uniform system of signals by auto horns, so that the public may know immediately upon hearing a signal just what was meant. He asked that the automobiles be prohibited from sounding their horns except at such times as are necessary in making these signals.

"Dry Zone" Hearing.
This morning at 9 o'clock the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council will meet in the Council chamber, and the principal feature will be a hearing on the proposition to create a "dry" zone at San Pedro for the purpose of giving greater efficiency to workmen employed on harbor development. The opinion of the City Attorney is that the City Council has power to legislate thereon, but that it cannot legally submit the question to a vote of the San Pedro district alone. Proponents of the measure were at the City Hall yesterday gathering documents and data that will be presented at today's hearing.

Councilman Will Speak.
Councilman Topham is to address the Christian Socialist Union at 8 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in Blanche Hall, on "Some Things Los Angeles Must Do in Reference to the San Pedro-Street Franchise." Topham believes the city should grant the Pacific Electric Company a franchise there.

City Hall Briefs.
The report of the Public Service Board, filed with the City Clerk yesterday, shows that for the month of August there were the following receipts in the water department: Water rates, $113,797.40; water permits, $400.00; $4952; installation of water meters, $403.89; deposits for extensions of street mains, $348, and bills collectable amounting to $1142.21.

Residents in the vicinity of North Broadway and Prince streets filed a protest yesterday against the city officials allowing the existence of the stagnant lake of water known as the old East Side reservoir. The protest alleges that this has become a breeding place, and has caused numerous cases of illness.

The city plans to arrange with the City Council for a formal opening of the free public market on the streets surrounding the old Plaza some time next week.

Fire Chief Eley plans to attend the national convention of fire chiefs in the following day and to work to bring the convention here in 1920.

CONSTABLE BECOMES PROBATION OFFICER UNEXPECTEDLY.

Judge Tempers Mercy With Justice for Sake of a Youth—Peace Guardian Does Not Favor Probation but Is Told to Give it a Fair Trial.

Constable Joe Ybarra of San Fernando was the recipient of an unexpected honor at the hands of Judge Willis. From the bench of the court, Judge Willis, in a case against W. H. Jones, a youth, he became sponsor for Jones's good behavior, and the way it happened was only after incident of Judge Willis's method of handling the case.

Jones jumped a train to beat his way to the oil fields, where a job had been promised him. Ybarra was by his side at San Fernando, for just such passengers. Ybarra spied Jones and as he approached Jones pulled a revolver and opened fire. Ybarra returned the fire and for a few moments there was a hand-to-hand struggle. Ybarra hit Jones and the latter fled, but he returned toward the town the following day and Ybarra still on the job, arrested him.

The evidence was contradictory. Jones said he thought Ybarra was a hold-up man and that he endeavored to protect his watch and small change. Ybarra, on the other hand, told Jones he was an officer.

Judge Willis put the question to the jury, and it was believed that he would send Jones to jail. Place him on probation. Ybarra, like most peace officers, is not in favor of probation. He was reluctant to handle the case, but Ybarra's breath away by stating he would place Jones on probation.

"It is a good thing to test this probation law," he told the constable. "I think you will find at the end of five years you will have more faith in making him a man than if he had served time in prison."

MUST KEEP HANDS OFF.
WIFE MAY YIELD ROD.

For sixty days or more Charles Hoffman, No. 1098 Catalina street, must leave the custody of his three children in the hands of his wife. This was the order of Judge Willis in a rather unusual case yesterday.

Hoffman had a violent temper and had beaten his two sons. The length of his wife's rod was the implement he used, and wells lined the bodies of the children from his blows to the head.

Mrs. Hoffman testified her husband had a violent temper and had beaten her on the least provocation. He said he whipped the children to keep them off the streets. When Judge Willis asked her if she would let her husband have his wife's rod, she said she would.

FIGHTS FOR LIBERTY.
JURISDICTION IS ATTACKED.

On the ground that the court lacks jurisdiction, Attorney Tom Johnson will apply for a writ of habeas corpus to free Lloyd Knapp, from serving a year in the penitentiary. Knapp pleaded guilty in Judge McCormick's court to having uttered a fictitious check. His application for probation was denied and he was sentenced.

Evidence brought out in the juvenile court yesterday indicated that S. Christopher, a Greek, had prepared to ship Rosa and Teresa, both under age, to San Diego as white slaves. The girls were brought to this city from Arizona. Both are married, but neither living with her husband. Rafael Lemell, the husband of Teresa, testified yesterday that a week after he married his wife left home. The girls were detained in the County Jail pending the investigation of Christopher. Judge Willis fined the County $250 and 125 days in the County Jail.

ALLEGES CONSPIRACY.
BEAUTY DOCTOR FILES SUIT.

Alleging that her former husband, M. King, and other stockholders of the Carr Company and the Cumber Creme Company conspired to destroy her business as a beauty doctor, Mrs. Fanny Briggs Carr King brought suit yesterday to restrain from continuing the acts. She demanded $5000 damages.

She alleges that a number of her customers were notified that the Superior Court had issued an injunction against her, enjoining them from selling the formula. She denies that such injunction exists.

FOURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WILL CONTEST.—The Clapp will contest will be tried next month, the date having been set by Judge Rives yesterday. The attack on the will of William Taylor Clapp is made by his daughter, Jennie H. Clapp, who alleges that owing to the undue influence of her father's housekeeper, she was cut out of the will only by personal effects. The estate is valued at $24,000. Clapp came to California more than forty years ago, locating near what is now Grange avenue, Pasadena. The property rapidly increased in value with the growth of the city.

PUNISHMENT FOLLOWS.—Anna G. McAlpine told a pitiful story in the juvenile court yesterday. She said she gave her heart to Arnold Peterson, and now regrets it. Peterson's love cooled after Mrs. McAlpine had sent Anna to the Home of the Good Shepherd to keep the young man from her, and his arrest followed on the charge of having contributed to her delinquency. Peterson was sentenced to the County Jail for one year by Judge Willis yesterday. He made no defense.

CAREER CHECKED.—The career of Harry Goodloe received a check in Judge McCormick's court yesterday when he was sentenced to prison for two years for having stolen a horse belonging to Mrs. Mary Martin, who lives near Alhambra. The animal is valued at $150 and Goodloe disposed of it to another Alhambra woman for $45. Goodloe applied for probation, but it was learned that he has a penitentiary record and his application was denied.

SUES DENTIST.—John L. Moran, guardian of John E. Moran, a youth, $25,000 damages from Dr. John E. Wilson, a dentist, because he pulled the second right lower molar instead of the right lower wisdom tooth. Moran alleges that as a result of the error, abscesses have formed.

INDIAN HABEAS CORPUS.
Attorneys seek Release of Redskin on Grounds of Nationality and Citizenship.

An application has been filed with Judge Wellborn of the United States District Court for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Ambrosio Appas, an Indian, who is in the County Jail on the charge of murdering W. H. Stanley, superintendent of the Cahuilla Reservation, Riverside county, on May 1.

Two grounds are set out in the writ. One is that under the treaty Guadalupe-Hidalgo between the United States and Mexico, in 1847, it was provided that Mexicans might declare themselves citizens of that country, and that if they did not do so they became automatically citizens of the United States. This was not done by the parents of Appas and it is claimed that he is therefore a citizen of the United States. The other ground is that with the admission of California to the Union in 1850, the national government did not retain exclusive jurisdiction of the Indians in California.

Judge Wellborn allowed the writ and argument will be heard on the application on a date to be fixed. The effect of the success of the writ would be to turn Appas over to the State courts for trial instead of to the Federal courts under whose commitment the murderer is now held without bond.

There are ten other Indians of the Cahuilla Reservation held with Appas who are charged with participating in the killing of Stanley and engaging in a conspiracy that terminated in death.

BEER LEADS HIM ASTRAY.
A strong and insistent thirst led to a case of manslaughter occurring from the University police. Bemis was a trusty at the station and was not confined behind the bars. There he was allowed to buy beer and escape by simply walking away from the station. Bemis confided to several fellow trusties that he had been too long without a glass of beer and that he thought he would go down town and get one. A short time later he was missed and apparently he had gone for his beer. Bemis had 31 days of his sentence still to serve and the police hope to be able to catch him after he has slaked his thirst.

MONTHS FOR TRIAL.
Government Oil Case to Require Long Time to Present Evidence.

By the provisions of a stipulation entered into between attorneys of the government and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, involving the legality of the patent issued to the road for about 6000 acres of land in the Elk Hill oil country in Kern county, the government is allowed until October 1, to complete its presentation of the case. The defendant will then have until January 1, 1920, for presenting its evidence, with the understanding that the balance of that month may be taken by the government if desired for the presentation of testimony in rebuttal.

Under the provisions of the stipulation testimony will be resumed at Bakersfield on September 17, then to Visalia, where certain records will be examined.

RANCHMAN SPEEDY FINED.
E. H. Hereford, a San Fernando rancher, who was arrested at Seventh and Broadway on a charge of driving his automobile while he was intoxicated, appeared before Justice Chambers yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge. Traffic Officer Witter Krug testified that Hereford drove his machine into the steps of a street car and that he came near hitting several passengers who were getting on the car. The rancher was fined $20, which he paid.

RESPONSIBILITY NOT FIXED.
Men Charged With Having Left Camp Fire Burning Near Chahuenga are Exonerated—Spite Assorted.

Because the evidence did not prove that they had been responsible for a camp fire left burning in the mountains near Chahuenga, Frank Riddle and Roda A. Clapper were exonerated of all blame yesterday by Justice Young.

The men said they had broken camp at 4 o'clock in the morning and witnesses said the fire was seen smoldering six hours later. Sixty persons, including the defendants, were asserted in that time and there was no way to fix the responsibility. Attorney Hutton laid the complaint to persons pique. H. Akin, he asserted, had summoned Deputy Forest Ranger John Opid because Riddle and Clapper had frightened a deer away from him.

REPUBLICAN ACHIEVEMENTS.

Rejoicing boasting of what you are going to do in the future, and if you really intend to do it, is immoral, untruthful and generally reprehensible. But grateful and modest recital of what you have done is always allowable and is often commendable. It is better in politics to be able to "point with pride" to what your party has done than to be so barren of achievement as to be compelled to make the canvass upon "viewing with alarm" what the other party threatens to do.

The Republican party does not need base its claim to the public confidence upon its historic past alone. That it saved the nation from dismemberment, abolished slavery, preserved the public credit, protected the labor of the country, and placed and kept the prosperity of the country upon an enduring basis is conceded by all men, except a few Democrats who are well stricken in years and who cling to their politics of fifty years ago like glistening polyps clinging to Devonian rocks.

Latter-day Democracy and horn-tooting Progressivism do not attack the record of the Republican party prior to March 4, 1909. Then there emerged from the portals of the White House Roosevelt the Great; Roosevelt the Only; Roosevelt the Bear-Killer of America; the striped jackass hunter of Africa; the self-appointed counselor of kings; the admirer of "bad men," and gun-fighters, and prize fighters; the writer of books in which twelve Presidents of the United States are described as liars, thieves and imbeciles; the philologist who can talk high English, low Dutch and very low gutterspeak shungullion. During Roosevelt's reign the progressive, chattering, chinwunks concede that the Republican party was able, pure and patriotic.

But, they ask, what has it done since? What has been achieved under the administration of Taft, whom our beloved Roosevelt calls a pickpocket? The Times will for once not indulge in that shrinking modesty which is a leading characteristic of its steamed Progressive cotemporaries, and will recite a few things that the Republican party has done under the wise, patriotic and progressive administration of President Taft.

"It points with pride" to the establishment of post offices at various points in the West, which has been so useful and helpful to miners; to the Children's Bureau; to the legislation for the suppression of the white-slave traffic; to the enactment and enforcement of the pure-food law; to the increase of pensions to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War; to the bringing into the Union of Arizona and New Mexico; to the enforcement of the anti-trust law against the Standard Oil Company and the American Tobacco Company; to the pending suits against the steel and the harvest-trust; to wise and patriotic handling of our relations with Mexico, and to the right to exempt our own ships from Panama Canal tolls, in despite of the arrogant protest and veiled menaces of Great Britain.

No President since Lincoln has served his country better than William Howard Taft. All the frenzied and unfair assaults of Theodore Roosevelt upon him will not lower the esteem in which the American people hold him.

JACKSON AND HIS SLANDER.

Andrew Jackson held the Presidency for eight years, from 1829 to 1837, when he retired to the Hermitage in his 70th year. He lived for nine years thereafter, taking no active part in politics.

As Congressman, Senator, general and Governor, Andrew Jackson impressed himself upon his country and his age as a master spirit. But it was as President that he achieved his greatest and most lasting renown. There were two theories at that day extant as to the relation of the States to the Union. One theory was that each State was a sovereign, that the Union was a compact of sovereigns, and that each sovereign State had a right to withdraw from the compact at her sovereign will and pleasure, with or without a reason.

The other theory—that of Calhoun—was that the State had a right to secede from the Union, but that each State had a right, through her Legislature, to nullify any act of Congress that she deemed inimical to her local interest or unsuitable to her local conditions. The alleged right of secession had, at that time, no influential advocates, but nullification was advocated in several southern States by followers of John C. Calhoun, who was its sponsor in South Carolina.

Calhoun met Jackson's sophism of nullification with both official and non-official utterances. In his second inaugural address he said:

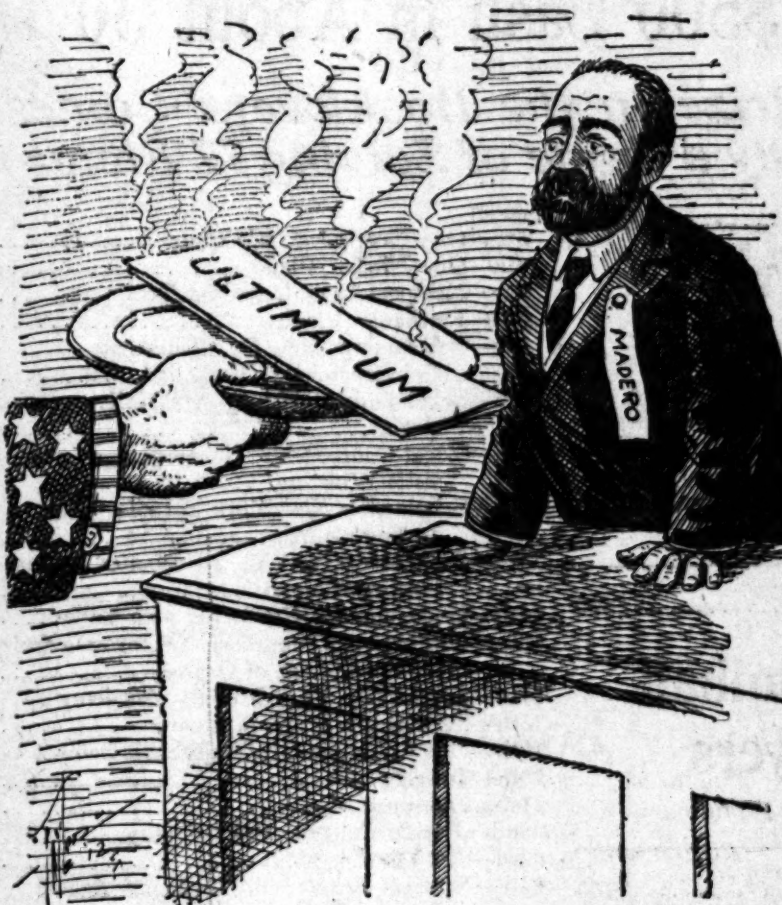

"In the domestic policy of this government there are two objects which especially deserve the attention of the people and their representatives, and which have been and will continue to be the subjects of my increasing solicitude. They are the preservation of the rights of the several States and the integrity of the Union.

"These great objects are necessarily connected, and can only be attained by an enlightened exercise of the powers of each within its appropriate sphere, in conformity with the public will constitutionally expressed. To this end it becomes the duty of all to yield a ready and patriotic submission to the laws constitutionally enacted, and thereby promote and strengthen a proper confidence in those institutions of the several States and of the United States which the people themselves have ordained for their own government."

Calhoun supplemented his official utterances against nullification with the unofficial suggestion that to nullify an act of Congress would be to commit treason, and that treason would result in the hanging of the traitors—Calhoun included.

Calhoun coupled his denunciation of nullification with opposition to the United States Bank. Single-handed and alone he commenced a crusade against that great and powerful institution which was dominating the finances, the business and the politics of the country and rivaling the government itself in influence and power. Jackson believed that the interests of the country demanded the extinction of this gigantic corporation. What Jackson believed ought to be done he always attempted to do, and what he attempted to do he usually succeeded in doing. He put an end to the bank, and the country applauded and endorsed his action.

The enemies of Andrew Jackson—and he had many enemies in his day—did not deny that he was a brave, sagacious, constructive statesman, who was always possessed of the courage of his convictions, who "took each man's counsel," but "preserved his own judgment," who could not be swayed from following any course which he believed to be best for his country, and who brought to the Presidential office a trained knowledge of men and affairs and books that he had gathered during a lifetime of active service in field and forum.

Of this great and truly representative American, as great as any of his great predecessors in the Executive chair, the self-sufficient pigmy, Roosevelt, has the audacity to write "HE WAS A FIGUREHEAD MANAGED BY POLITICIANS. HE WAS IGNORANT. LOW POLITICIANS MOLDED HIM TO THEIR WILL. HIS ADMINISTRATION CORRUPTED THE PUBLIC SERVICE IN EVERY WAY."

When Roosevelt shall pass away there should be inscribed upon his monument as an epitaph seven words from Shakespeare: "Past all shame so past all truth."

THE PARCELS-POST SYSTEM.

It has been officially announced by Postmaster-General Hitchcock that the recently authorized parcels-post system would be put in general operation on the 1st of January, 1913. "The system will extend over more than 1,000,000 miles of rural delivery and star routes and will cover in its various ramifications all systems of transportation of parcels now utilized by private express companies."

"First of all," said Mr. Hitchcock, "must be prepared a classification of the articles that can be accepted for transportation. The law admits to the mails practically all kinds of merchandise that can be transported safely, including products of the farm and garden as well as factory products, provided such articles do not weigh more than eleven pounds nor exceed twenty-two inches in combined length and girth. The mode of packing will be prescribed carefully. The present equipment of the mail service is not adapted to the carriage of such merchandise, and, therefore, new equipment must be provided. It is likely that we shall employ extensively hampers similar to those used in foreign countries in handling parcels-post mail."

"The law provides that postage on all parcels shall be prepaid by affixing distinctive stamps. This will necessitate the designing and printing of at least a dozen denominations of special stamps, ranging in value from 1 cent to $1. Provision for the collection on delivery of the price of a parcel must be made."

It is not so many years since Wells, Fargo & Co. was a rival of the United States as a letter-carrier in California. But Uncle Sam did not lose by the rivalry, for every letter required the express frank to be engraved on a postage envelope. Every evening in the mining camps, on the arrival of the stage with the letter and express mail, there were but few in line at the postoffice. But the express office was crowded with people while the agent called aloud the names of those to whom express letters were addressed.

THE "SCAM" LABOR UNION.

An amusing, although somewhat disastrous, strike is taking place in New Zealand just now at the Waikato coal mines. There is absolutely no dispute of any kind with the employers—wages satisfactory, hours comfortable, conditions of labor all that they should be and, most important of all, no non-unionists to rouse their jealousy. Yet the mines have been closed for nearly three weeks and the trouble is not disposed of yet.

There is an arbitration board for labor disputes in New Zealand, which is a sort of labor federation to which the various unions and employers' societies belong. Many are the privileges accorded by the government to members who honorably abide by its decisions, but membership is not compulsory upon any union.

Now the Waikato Miners' Union passed a resolution declining to join the arbitration federation, preferring the old bad strike-and-be-damned methods. But about a third of its members strongly disapproved of this course. So much so that the minority subsequently formed a new union on their own account and duly joined the federation. "Scab union," shouts the original Waikato union; "we'll close the mines down on you." And they did.

Of course this situation is delightfully Gilbertian—except for the unfortunate thousands who are starving as a result of the dispute. The employers, too, who are losing thousands daily, notwithstanding the fact that they are acknowledged to be as nearly ideal employers as this world provides, are likewise failing to appreciate the full piquancy of the situation as yet.

GOLDEN WORDS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

"Gold is good in its place; but living, brave and patriotic men are better than gold."

"God must like the common people, or he would not have made so many of them."

"I am indeed very grateful to the brave men who have been struggling with the enemy in the field."

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Let us have that faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us, to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it."

"The reasonable man has long since agreed that temperance is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of all evils among mankind."

"The purposes of the Almighty are perfect and must prevail, though we erring mortals may fail to accurately perfect them in advance."

"Of the people, when they rise in mass in behalf of the Union and the liberties of their country, truly may it be said: 'The gates of hell can not prevail against them.'"

"I appeal to you again to constantly bear in mind that you (the people), and not with politicians, not with Presidents, not with office-seekers, but with you, is the question. Shall the Union, and shall the liberties of the country be preserved to the last generation?"

"Gen. Grant is a copious worker and fighter, but a very meager writer and telegrapher."

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

LINCOLN'S ADDRESS AT GETTYSBURG.

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether the nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."

"We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come here to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live."

"It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense, we can not dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract."

"The world will little note or long remember what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here."

"It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have, thus far, so nobly advanced."

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

ABROAD WITH BURDETTE.

The Lions of Geneva.
 Lucerne has her one lion. Geneva was a menagerie of them. Not the kind that get their faithful hides transfixed with the spear of the hunters.

No, indeed. The lions of Geneva were of the human breed, who roared their opinions to the whole wide jungle of mankind, and made it hot for the hunter who got after them.

It was by no means a harmonious menagerie. Each lion and the solitary—well, no; Mme. de Staël wasn't exactly solitary. She loved company more intensely and got more of it than misery or the cook. I may say she was the only lioness in that brilliant pressure on Lake Lemana. But, anyhow, each one of the aggregation roared on his own terms, hostile to all the others, and the voices of their roaring disturbed all the bones in the jungle. Along about the time the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries were blending to change the figure from the jungle to the skies, Geneva was the brightest star in the intellectual galaxy of Switzerland, which at that time contained more poets than Indiana, more statesmen than Ohio and more philosophers than Kansas.

Giants in the Land.
 And, perhaps, greater ones. Calvin, Voltaire, Rousseau, Mme. de Staël, Gibbon, the historian; Lavater, the scientist; Pestalozzi, the pedagogist; Albrecht von Haller of Bern, Henri Frederic Amiel of Geneva, "the Swiss Thoreau," Horace Benedict de Saussure, the "compeller" of Mt. Blanc—a scientist with a passion for mountain-climbing, and at a little later day two great men well known in America—Louis Jean Rodolphe Agassiz and Arnold Henri Guyot, colleagues in the Academy of Neuchâtel, their native town, and afterward professors in American universities, Agassiz at Harvard and Guyot at Princeton. These and many others of lesser, yet distinguished note, made Switzerland a republic of letters in their days. Geneva, Zurich, Bern and Basle were the homes of men who were coloring the thought of the world.

Among them all, while Calvin was most deeply and persistently impressing the age and the generations to come with his theology, towering above the others as the man of genius was Jean Jacques Rousseau. Not the best leader; not the wisest teacher; not the highest; not the greatest; but how by any means—but unmistakably the genius.

To the Manner Born.

Calvin and Voltaire were Frenchmen, who came to Geneva in the years of their manhood, Voltaire in the declining days of his life. But Rousseau was born in Geneva, of Parisian ancestry, in a house on the Grand Rue, 15, 1713. While Calvin was calling the world back to God and the Bible and Voltaire was teaching it to sneer at everything, Rousseau was leading it back to nature," he said. And nature, admirable as it is, is a very heartless, unsympathetic teacher, and not at all a progressive one.

Nature is just as natural among the jungles of darkest Africa as it is in the shade of Oxford and the academic atmosphere of Harvard.

Indeed, if you would seek Nature at her natural, unspiced by conventions and improvements, the wilderness is her name, her boudoir, her den, her sacred, to her best beloved and most intimate devotee.

Civilization is her drawing-room. The half-wild man, who was suckled at her breasts and grew up at her side, scarce recognizes her in her reception costume and does not understand her refined language at her afternoon teas and philosophical salons.

A Motherless Baby.

Rousseau's mother died in giving him life. His father neglected the child and gave him into the care of a cluster of aunts. He was brought up without the companionship of other children—the best teachers of children on earth. He grew up a shy, timid boy, and an abnormally sensitive man. At 16 he renounced Protestantism, went to Savoy and became a Catholic. A few years later he met Mme. de Warens, a gentle, hearted woman who plied his poverty, admired his originality, and took him into her house. He called her his "Maman" and lived "naturally" for ten years on her bounty. He was in his twenties; she was 30, beautiful and sentimental, and Rousseau, unassuming—it seems that it is not natural to blush—tells how, by a natural process, he changed her maternal relation to that of a life of disgusting sentimentalism.

Then he went to Paris and failed in half a dozen things. Finally, after an absence of forty-two years, he returned to Geneva, renounced Catholicism and once more embraced Protestantism. In order to secure the right of citizenship in his native city, he took a new mistress—it seems that he changed his mistress every time he changed his religion—a little offener, in fact—this time a servant named Therese Lavasseur, by whom he had five children. These, in accord with some peculiar natural doctrine of his own, he abandoned to the tender care of the Foundlings' Hospital.

Too Natural for Humanity.

He sent Voltaire a copy of his book, "Emile," to which the philosopher of the sneer returned this comment, bitter with irony:

"Sir, I have received your book against the human race. So much talent has never before been employed in making brutes of us. One is seized with a desire to walk on all-fours after reading your book."

On his part, Rousseau reproached Voltaire for his wickedness in corrupting the simple habits and lives of the Genevese by his teachings, his theater, his scoffing at everything orthodox. All of which made Voltaire furious and added oil to the flames of his satires and made his wit ever the more venomous.

One of Rousseau's works, "Emile," was burned by the public hangman by the orders of the Parliament of Paris and the Council of Geneva. He was driven into exile. In his rage he renounced his citizenship of Geneva. He was driven from one refuge after another by persecuting Propriety and Orthodoxy, and died at last in Ermenouville, near Paris, in 1778. His body rests quietly enough in the Pantheon in Paris, side by side with that of Voltaire, whom he in life had wished farther away.

He was an abnormal creature, made more so by persecutions far more bitter than he deserved. Impulsive, nervous, paradoxical, gross and sensual in temperament, he wrote and taught as an "apostle of nature," especially of "her divine liberties."

Proof to the Contrary.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Artesia and Orange County.
ARTESIA, Sept. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of September 8, we find an article to the effect that the "Board of Trade" of Artesia, representing 150 citizens of Artesia, has declared against annexation to Orange County. Who comprise the "Board of Trade," and where can we find them? Kindly permit us a small space in your columns on this subject, the columns of our local paper being closed to an open discussion on this question. Your paper has always been a champion of free discussion, and this is a question that calls for open and careful deliberation and not for secret meetings of self-constituted bodies.

This whole question of annexation to Orange County is the outgrowth of the attempt to incorporate Artesia. The main argument being used that although Artesia is too small for incorporation, it is the only method by which we can escape being absorbed by Los Angeles. In other words, we must choose "between the devil and the deep sea."

Our local paper, which would benefit by a few hundreds of dollars in publishing the official proceedings of a town council—and a few others who would benefit in a similar manner—would escape Los Angeles through incorporation. Even then, though Los Angeles should still gobble them up, the newly-created offshoot would be as balm to their wounded souls!

The incorporation of a town with its batch of taxes falling heavily on a small territory is a very questionable method in the eyes of our farmers of saving them from annexation to Los Angeles; hence this movement is a very questionable one. Where the taxes are low and where schemes for taxing the farmers are not popular.

The petition addressed to the Board of Supervisors of Orange County and presented to them by Dr. E. W. Diehl, containing a list of signatures several yards long, signed by the farmers of Artesia, with their good right hands and representing themselves. This is tangible evidence. We who signed the petition are entitled to a hearing.

This question is a large one. The Artesia belt, the farming country of Los Angeles county, extending from Azusa to Long Beach and from Compton to Orange county, would require the formation of a great many little towns.

If forming a number of trivial little towns is the farming country, this incurring a large batch of additional taxes, would really save us from being annexed to Los Angeles. Would the farmers be satisfied?

Could not Los Angeles, if she desired to exploit us, accomplish the same purpose by increasing the assessed value of our lands? What difference does it make how she does it, so long as we are compelled to pay out the money?

Would not the Legislature decide that one large town would be better than a number of inexperienced, unbusinesslike little towns with their multiplication of offices, clogging the machinery of county government?

Would Los Angeles be a worse master than the resulting brood of hungry politicians?

Would our politicians be less greedy than those of the city, and would we not thus have that many more hungry mouths to fill? Let us meet this issue of the domination of Los Angeles, by public discussion, but let us not let our opponents have the undoing of the farmers as our opponents insinuate, let us work against it.

If it means the elimination of graft and the substitution of business methods in handling our public affairs, let us work for it. Perhaps it would give us a government as good as that of Orange county, and we would not need to look yearningly over the line.

Let us first make our appeal to the people of Los Angeles. They have not yet manifested that hungry and unreasoning attitude the incorporationists would have us believe.

We are prepared to believe that Los Angeles, when she is ready for the consolidation of county and city, will not expect to absorb this Artesia belt, whose interests are simply and entirely those of farming.

Let us first go to the people of Los Angeles and ask to be permitted to remain outside the city limits where we belong.

We believe that the people of Los Angeles will understand and sympathize with our position and join us in our petition to the Legislature to permit us to go over to Orange county, which is a strictly agricultural county whose requirements and interests are identical with our own.

CLARENCE DOUGHERTY.

Tax and Assessment Conditions in Los Angeles.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The undersigned taxpayer lives in the East, and has invested a considerable sum of money in real estate in Los Angeles, also in a western and northwestern city. From the latter regular tax notices are sent by mail without question and no effort is made to load down the tax bills with penalties. Los Angeles, on the other hand, does not mail tax bills in due time, but instead loads them down first with penalties and then mails them. It would seem that a tax bureau should be run in the same manner as a business office—that is, tax sheets should be mailed to all.

Here is a typical case. About January, 1910, the undersigned received in the East by registered mail, from the City Attorney of Los Angeles, a summons and complaint in the Ninth-street widening proceedings, in which one of his lots is included. Answer was filed through an attorney, his fee paid and a decision awaited in due time. While the answer was in Los Angeles in April, 1912, he paid his current taxes and was informed by W. G. Schreiber of the bureau of street assessments, that an assessment had been declared on the lot in question, on November 1, 1911, amounting to $457.55, to which $71.01 penalties and $1 for advertising and certificate of sale had been added, making a total of $528.56, which, unless paid, would draw progressive penalties up to 50 per cent.

Also was informed that every possible means had been taken to ascertain my address in the way of city directories, city books, that a man who had posted the legal notices on the lot according to law. The statement as to a diligent search of the address of the undersigned is untrue, because, when the City Attorney had to mail the summons and complaint in the said matter, he had no idea of my address and as he was in a hurry to get it out, he had no time to search for it.

police department finds the address every time when it wants to notify the undersigned that weeds must be cut on certain lots of his. The statement— or affidavit, if such was made—of the city employee who claimed that he looked over the lot for a sign, and saw no sign thereon, and could not ascertain the address, is a deliberate falsehood, because a sign measuring about 6x12 feet was displayed on the lot in question before, during and after that time, with an address written in large letters. Such an untruthful city employee should be discharged at once and replaced by one who will do his duty honestly and faithfully.

Here is another case of great injustice towards the taxpayer, the one-sided affair, that resembles oppression closer than anything else:

The city declares an assessment and award for widening a street and demands the immediate payment of the assessment with a progressive penalty from that point on. If it is to be added, if unpaid within a certain short period of time. The city collects the money and also, in this case, keeps the money in its treasury for years without starting or doing the work for which the taxpayer is forced to pay in advance. The city keeps the money and the taxpayer pays the money and the city itself pays no interest on a deferred award. This is a one-sided game and the city laws should be amended in such a way that the tax and assessment bureau are run in an efficient, businesslike manner.

The School Board and University Education.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To charge the City School Board with wrong-doing is to run the risk of trial for treason. All and sundry of the city boards are daily criticised for their wrong-doing, but who ventures to criticize the acts of the high and mighty School Board. As this august body spends millions of dollars in the people's hard-earned shekels, the average man, that is the poor devil on the street, finds it hard to understand why the city should spend so much money on the education of the children of the city, when the city is so poor. It has become so much the habit to boast of the perfection of the gear that even friendly and helpful criticism is disarmed. It used to be said, do King, do King, in Los Angeles we say, "The School Board can do no wrong."

The writer, however, believes that our city School Board can do wrong, and is so doing. Of course it is to be human to err, and it is so easy to find fault, yet I feel quite sure the average taxpayer will indorse the adverse criticism I am about to make.

The Times of a recent date, devoted the greater part of its editorial to a count of a movement in progress designed to cut in two the university course—that is, erect buildings, equip them with all kinds of modern appliances, and engage an endless number of high-salaried, and up-to-date professors to the work of the first two years of the university course.

Now let us look back a step or two. School statistics show that even our city School Board can do wrong, and is so doing. Of course it is to be human to err, and it is so easy to find fault, yet I feel quite sure the average taxpayer will indorse the adverse criticism I am about to make.

WINS G.A.R. MARATHON WITH EASE.

He is 66 years old, and served through the war in the Eighth New York Heavy Artillery, and the Tenth New York Infantry. He has been city clerk agent at Cleveland for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad for twenty-five years, and was commander of Memorial Post, Cleveland, to which Mark Hanna belonged. Smith delivered the funeral oration for his post on the occasion of the Hanna funeral. He came to Los Angeles five weeks ago and trained faithfully for the race.

"Well, I did it," he said, after the finish. "I guess that no one will deny now that I am the G.A.R. champion. I feel fine, and what I want most of all now is a square meal. I will rest up for awhile before returning East."

In celebration of his 76th birthday, Arthur J. Withey of No. 1130 West Ninety-first street, paced Smith for a quarter in 1m. 55s. Prof. E. B. Warren also walked an exhibition mile in 12m. 15s. Warren is 55 and climbs Mt. Wilson on his every birthday.

Smith ran his first quarter in two minutes flat, and the first mile in 5m. 55s. The fortieth and last lap, paced by Trainer Roger Cornell, he completed in 7m. 15s.

Col. T. T. Smith of Columbus, O., was official starter. Francis Gage, De Witt Van Court, and George Elliott, scorers; D. B. Cronwell, and W. A. Reynolds of the Y.M.C.A., timers; M. H. Ready owned the voice behind the megaphone. A fine and drum corps enlivened the proceedings.

Reports of ten general officers, a trust board and eight committees of the Grand Army of the Republic were submitted yesterday at the session in the Auditorium, covering a range of subjects from national legislation to the matter of raising flags on schoolhouses.

The reports were submitted by Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief Nicholas W. Day, Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief William A. Ogden, Surgeon-General John H. Hanrahan, Chaplain-in-Chief J. Wynne Jones, Adj.-Gen. Charles R. E. Koch, Quartermaster-General C. D. R. Stowits, Custodian, J. Henry Holcomb, Judge Advocate-General, William A. Ketchum, Inspector-General J. H. McClay, National Patriotic Instructor John B. Lewis, the Trustees of the Permanent Fund, the Committee on Legislation for Veterans in the Public Service; the Committee on Bull Run Battlefield; the Committee on the Andersonville Prison; the Committee on Legislation; the Lincoln Centennial Committee, and the Special Committee on Investigating Influence Against National Soldiers' Homes.

Establishment of medical relief bureaus in various cities of the United States, where veterans may receive the advice and attention of specialists free of charge, is one of the suggestions made by Surgeon-General Hanrahan, who urged that an attempt be made to secure governmental aid for their maintenance.

Gen. Sheridan was asked what was the most amusing incident of his experiences as a soldier. He said: "An Irish soldier was riding a lazy mule through camp one day, with his feet dangling out of the stirrups, when the mule kicked up a hind foot, and got it caught in the stirrup. 'Well,' says Pat, 'if ye air gone to get here in get down.'—S. A. McClung, Peoria, Ill."

The following is one of Mr. Lincoln's stories. These he told often in private conversation, rarely in speeches: "I once knew a good, sound churchman, whom we'll call Brown, who was on a committee to erect a bridge over a very dangerous and rapid river. Architect after architect failed, and at last Brown said he had a friend named Jones who had built several bridges and could build this. 'Let's have him,' said the committee. In came Jones. 'Yes, you build this bridge, air?' 'Yes,' replied Jones; 'I could build a bridge to the infernal regions if necessary.' The sober committee were horrified, but when Jones retired Brown thought it but fair to defend his friend. 'I know Jones so well,' he said, 'and he is so honest a man and so good an architect that if he states soberly and positively that he can build a bridge to the infernal regions, which he has held for years after the close of the war. On Grant's accession to the Presidency, Jones was appointed to the United States Marshalship which he held for many years, for who would seek to displace a veteran hero who had lost an arm in the service of his country? Fred Kelly of U.S.C. Winning Olympic Hurdles.
Kelly is shown clearing the last barrier, with Hawkins, who took third, just rising behind him. Wendell, second place man, is shown on the right, topping the last stick a yard behind.
Notice Fred's superior hurdling form. Kelly is clearing his jump, while Hawkins and Wendell are going into theirs.

ALTHOUGH NOT "SPLASH ME," JOE SAYS THERE'S A GIRL.

ALTHOUGH Joe Rivers pleaded not guilty to an engagement to be married to Frances White, the little "Splash me" girl, he admits there is "another girl."
"I am sorry," he said, "to have had this story get into the papers because of this other girl. She is a sweet, good, charming young lady and I am proud of her friendship. When I get married you can be sure that it will be to the right kind of a girl."
In leaving for Wheeler Springs yesterday, Joe said that nothing had been done about another match. Frankie Burns, he said, had not been mentioned.
The fact that Tom McCarey is angling for Johnny Coulon and Tommy Burns indicates that Joe's chances of an immediate match are doubtful. Tommy Burns yesterday telegraphed his refusal to fight Jim Flynn here. Coulon has wired that he would like to meet Campbell here in November if the terms are right.

Showed American Athletes
Every Attention.

BY GEO. RETZER.

Am I glad to get home? Well, I should say yes. Los Angeles looks better to me now than it ever did before. After traveling around foreign people for three months and seldom hearing any English, the sight of the Statue of Liberty as we steamed into New York Harbor gave me a feeling that the United States was the best and only place to live in.

GEORGE RETZER HOME FROM STOCKHOLM; OTHERS SOON.

THE athletes who went from Los Angeles to the Olympic games will soon be home again. George Retzer, who went at the expense of the L.A.A.C. to wrestle, has returned and has written for The Times an account of his travels, which appears in this issue. He had hard luck. Three days before his match, a scratch on his knee became infected and he had to leave a sick bed to wrestle, falling an easy prey to an Austrian.
Fred Kelly, whose wonderful victory in the hurdles is to be perpetuated by the Kelly Olympic Scholarship fund, being collected by The Times, is in Boston and will soon be home. The fund now lacks but $275 of the required amount. It will be complete by the time of his return. After his graduation, the fund will be used to pay the tuition of some other worthy young athlete at the University of Southern California.
James Donahue, the third Los Angeles boy at the Olympic games, is in Chicago on his way home.

Roy Brashear Thrown Out of Game in Third Inning
by Umpire—He and Kitty Victims of Double Play and Annihilation of Family Tree Is Too Much—"Bullet"
Miller Holds Tigers at Mercy.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

ROY BRASHEAR tried to rip Umpire George Wheeler's new blouse off as early as the third inning and "Happy" Hogan shouted commands until he choked, but the San Francisco Whales were not worried by these things and flipped the Tigers out of first place.
The Whales put over a run in the first and duplicated this achievement in the second. A two-run flare-up in the fifth was followed by two left outbursts in the eighth and ninth, when they converted the thing into a rout with two three-run clutches.
Wutli gave a line on what was going to happen when he hammered a Castleton curve to center at the witching hour of 2:45. Castleton nullified the hit by gathering in Wagner's punt and forcing Wutli at second. Followed by the quarter and half-milers. In the afternoon the distance men and Marathoners did their turn. The west men assumed charge of the bow of the boat. We had one mat on board, which very likely became dirty. When I could induce anybody to wrestle I'd won. Being the only wrestler on board, this was quite a task. I took things easy most of the time, but ran a few laps.

MRS. JOHNSON ENDS HER LIFE FOR LOVE OF JACK.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—(Special Dispatch.) That Mrs. Jack Johnson, the white wife of the negro pugilist, died because of her devotion to her husband, was the testimony of the fighter himself on the witness stand today before the coroner's jury impaneled to inquire into her suicide. The former beautiful society leader who tasted the bitterest drugs of her life in the company of the most despised pugilist of modern times, shot herself through the head last night in her apartment over Johnson's saloon and died at 3:28 o'clock this morning in the Provident Hospital, a negro hospital.

NEVILLE AND ARMSTRONG TO MEET IN GOLF FINALS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Neville and E. S. Armstrong, the two golfers who did so much to put California on the map in the western amateur championship a month ago, will meet in the finals for the Del Monte title tomorrow and the match should provide one of the most thrilling contests ever witnessed on the Pacific Coast. Despite the surprise of the tournament by the removal of so many cracks in the earlier rounds, it is conceded on all hands that the two logical favorites have reached the last stage of the competition, and additional interest and rivalry is lent to the match as it will be played between representatives of the northern and southern sections of the State.

Every morning at 11 o'clock the sprinters, hurdlers and jumpers practiced, followed by the quarter and half-milers. In the afternoon the distance men and Marathoners did their turn. The west men assumed charge of the bow of the boat. We had one mat on board, which very likely became dirty. When I could induce anybody to wrestle I'd won. Being the only wrestler on board, this was quite a task. I took things easy most of the time, but ran a few laps.

BUSHERS MAKE NEW RECORD.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROXBURY (Mass.) Sept. 12.—Baseball fans here have temporarily forgotten all about the big league pennant fights and are devoting their time to discussing the twenty-eight inning game here yesterday between the Willow Athletic Club team and the St. Phillips Church nine.

Jack Neville is the present Pacific Coast champion, while Armstrong holds the title for which these players will strive tomorrow.
Armstrong's match with Vincent Whitney today was without doubt the most brilliant of the competitions to date, as both players played a much better brand of golf than is usually served up in important tournament matches and interest was maintained right up to the eighteenth hole. Whitney's unsteadiness on the green cost him a few holes, but this was counterbalanced by some of Armstrong's erratic tee-shots. The San Francisco

IN THE BIG LAY-WORLD

By JULIAN JOHNSON.

The Shuberts are said to be on the verge of another tremendous attempt to buy out the syndicate.

Both Mr. Klaw and Mr. Erlanger, who are wealthy men, have steadily declined to treat with the Shubert empires, and it is probable that nothing will come of the attempt.

Blanche Walsh, who was perpetrating the tireless "Thunder Gods" last year, has a new vaudeville act called "The Countess Nadine."

Oiga Netherole is playing "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie" in the English provinces.

"The Diamond Necklace," by Frederic Arnold Kummer, will be the second, vaudeville production by Daniel Frohman.

Mordkin, the Russian dancer, is now playing in the Moscow Operahouse as a substitute artist, working at a salary, for one season, which he got for one week when in America.

Titta Hutto, the great Italian baritone, one of the greatest singers of modern times—and yet under 50—has been signed for ten weeks by Andrews Dippel of the Philadelphia-Chicago Opera Company, and it is said, will open in Philadelphia in November in a performance of Ambrose Thomas's "Hamlet."

James Durkin and Maude Fealy have been engaged as leading people for the Alcazar stock company in San Francisco.

Albani, the opera singer, denies the off-spread report that she is in straitened circumstances. She is living, and said to be living quite comfortably, in London.

A painting of Maude Adams, by John W. Alexander, president of the National Academy of Design, now hangs in the foyer of the Empire Theater, New York, where it will be a permanent decoration.

William H. Crane is returning from Germany to begin his fifth year on the stage. His debut was made at Uluk, N. Y., July 13, 1935, in "The Daughter of the Regiment."

Laura Hope Crews will be starred by Henry Miller in a play called "The Black Flag."

Hale Hamilton will play the title role in "The Ne'er-Do-Well," the Rex

Beach story dramatized by Charles Klein.

David Bispham broke his ankle last week in San Francisco, while attending to the Bohemian Club jinks.

Margaret Anglin is to be seen this year in Edward Sheldon's new play, "Egypt." The first performance of the piece will be given late in September in Albany.

Walter Damrosch, who spent the summer on Lake Champlain, is returning to New York to rehearse his new opera, "The Dove of Peace," which will be produced next month.

James Forbes has written another comedy, "Peter Pan" may be musicalized, and "The Little Minister" turned into an opera.

William J. Hurlburt, author of "The Fighting Hope," has written a piece called "The Strange Woman." It is now to be played by Mrs. Leslie Carter.

We read in the Dramatic Mirror: "John Jeffrey Farnol is to come to this country from England in the near future to make arrangements for the production of two plays based on his novels, 'The Broad Highway' and 'The Money Moon.'"

"Making arrangements!" Heavens! We've been doing nothing else for three months!

William Morris, the isolated vaudeville plunger whose sole purpose seems to have been Harry Lauder, will make, in addition to vaudeville premieres, the production of a four-act drama he has brought from England.

It is entitled: "The Blindness of Virtue."

The Kalem Film Company is soon to attempt an extremely ambitious subject, viz., nothing more or less than the life of Christ, under the title "Jesus of Nazareth."

Charles Frohman has just produced, at the Harris Theater, a new comedy by Augustus Thomas, entitled "The Model." A consensus of criticism dubs it a play without a story, but with a craftsmanship which is delightful.

Billie Burke opened her season in "The Mind-the-Paint Girl" last week in Atlantic City.

Another visitation. SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 12.—(Special Dispatch to The Times by Federal (Wireless) Line) Louis Parente and his white hope, Charles Miller, left for Los Angeles today in quest of matches. Miller is not downhearted in the least over the Flynn bout and expects to climb the ladder over again. Parente is certain that he will get a match for his boxer in the south.

NEVILLE AND ARMSTRONG.

him, Whitney again driving magnificently, reached the ninth green in two, Armstrong being short and the northerner made it two up again at the turn.

A topped brassie second cost Whitney the tenth hole, Armstrong dropping a seventy-five yards approach dead to the hole for a four. The Los Angeles player made a good three to the eleventh while Whitney was endeavoring to extricate his ball from the surrounding bunkers and the match was "all square." The twelfth hole was one of the best played by Whitney as his drive was a screamer and his mashie pitch stopped within eight feet of the pin. Armstrong played short of the bunker on his second but his third was into it and he lost, 6 to 4.

Armstrong drove the next green of 201 yards with his putter and won 3 to 4, thus squaring the match again. Both elicited their drives en route to the fourteenth, but Whitney made matters worse by topping the second. Armstrong's second was hole in one near the tree, but he again approached dead to the hole and took the lead. Whitney drove over the next barance, Armstrong behind in it. Whitney's second was on the green, but he took three putts while Armstrong brilliantly negotiated a styrie with his mashie and was 2 up with three to go.

A weak approach cost Armstrong the next hole, Whitney winning in four and the San Francisco player halved the punchbowl by means of a semi-rainbow putt, his opponent's ball blocking his route to the cup. With one down and one to go, Whitney got into trouble with his tee shot, the ball striking and lodging in the roots of a tree, but he again approached hole with a par four and the match 2 up.

NEVILLE IN TROUBLE. Jack Neville had the worst of the earlier stages of his match with Chapin Tubbs, who was, however, unable to cinch his advantage. Time and time did Tubbs fail to sink his pill from the six-foot range and after being one hole to the good at the fifth he lost the next five straight through this weakness and Neville had no difficulty in holding him safe afterwards. Neville started shakily, but when he got into his stride he played as brilliantly as ever, showing plenty of confidence and executing many wonderful shots. Tubbs drove well throughout and some of his approaches were of championship caliber, but the least said about his putting is the soonest said.

MISS CHESBROUGH WINS. Miss Edith Chesbrough defeated Miss Alice Warner in the second round of the women's championship by three up and one to play, but the match was closer than the result would indicate, as until the fatal thirteenth the two players were struggling neck and neck. Miss Chesbrough's steadiness, which has won her countless titles in the past against others, stood her in good stead. She was always ready to pounce upon every opportunity presented to her. Miss Warner played a brilliant game, but was extremely erratic and may attribute her defeat largely to the fact that Miss Chesbrough's greatest strength is her most salient weakness. The turning point in the match was again the thirteenth as it has been before with these two players. Miss Warner being 1 down at the twelfth for his boxer in the south.

slightly wide, but hole-high of the green, while Miss Chesbrough hooked into the trees and was short on her second, but Miss Warner took three putts and allowed the champion to divide the hole and there was very little argument afterwards.

Mrs. Pommer won handily from Mrs. Ward Barron, but the match between Miss Alice Hager and Mrs. T. S. Baker was very closely contested, the former winning on the eighteenth green. Miss Hager has already disposed of two formidable candidates and her match with Miss Pommer tomorrow should attract a large gallery.

Mrs. Augustus Taylor, who is playing excellent golf here, won her way into the semi-finals by easily beating Mrs. Hodge of San Diego and is to meet Miss Chesbrough in the semi-final round tomorrow.

In the defeated eight of the first flight, Miss Josephine with a liberal handicap won from Mrs. J. R. Clark and Mrs. F. W. McNear defeated Mrs. W. S. Arnsby.

RETZER TELLS OF TRIP

each day behind the Marathoners to keep in trim.

LONG JOURNEY ENDED. After ten days we landed in Antwerp, where the ship unloaded freight and coiled for the remainder of the journey. Here we had two days' practice at Beershot Park. It seemed quite a relief to most of the boys to run and jump on land once again. The pole-vaulters and high and broad-jumpers got in some good practice. On June 30 we dropped anchor at Stockholm, opposite the Djurgården, where we took steam launches every day for the Strandvaegen and street cars from there to the Stadium.

The Stadium was opposite the barracks, about ten minutes from the center of town. It was built against the side of a hill of solid rock, surrounded by a park of natural trees. It was a grand place.

The Swedish Olympic Committee came aboard and was introduced to all of us. We soon found them to be all they proved afterward, true sports in every sense of the word. All the time we were in Stockholm the people couldn't do enough for us. They would often go out of their way to do us a favor. On all the street cars was either a boy or a man who could speak English so as to give directions and answer questions.

OFFICIAL OPENING. On Saturday, June 6, was the official opening of the Olympic games. It was a beautiful day and disclosed a scene unparalleled in the history of Sweden. Each nation, as it came in, was loudly greeted, Denmark with its many gymnasts coming in for a special cheer. The Americans with their blue coats and white trousers were cheered by everybody, followed by the English, who received their share. Sweden brought up the rear and made a very effective conclusion. The Stadium fairly rocked as they passed by. The president of the Swedish Olympic Committee, the Crown Prince, delivered the opening address and was responded to by the King.

The games are now past history; everybody knows how the Americans did themselves proud. After the Marathon race the Swedish Olympic Committee gave a banquet to all the contestants. Long tables were placed in the Stadium and the different nations marched to their places.

The Crown Prince delivered a speech in English after he had finished the Americans arose in a body and gave him three cheers. For some reason this pleased the English. In Sweden they have a bread made of rye flour that resembles a disc on a phonograph. In a few seconds the air was full of this bread, resembling Payne's "Eruption of Vesuvius." Big Ralph Rose of San Francisco got hit behind the ear and was going to thrash all the English in the field.

GREAT CHORUS. After the banquet a chorus of 4400 male voices sang Swedish anthems. It was the best I ever heard in my life.

During the games we would cheer our boys when they would win and also our hosts. The other nations, except the Swedes, would look at us in surprise. They never did get quite used to it. I guess Fred Kelly of U.S.C. was sure a hero when he won the high hurdles in 15.1. Several boys jumped the sun and by the time it did go off they were to the first hurdle. At the third hurdle from the finish he came out from the bunch and was leading over the last one. If he had had the start of Hawkins of Oregon received he would have broken the world's record by one-fifth of a second.

After the games many of the boys went sightseeing and others to participate in different meets at Copenhagen, Berlin, Budapest and Paris. The time limit of August 30 found thirty of us on board the St. Paul and a jolly time we had. It seemed we were all old friends.

BIG FOOTBALL RUSH SCHEDULED TODAY.

The freshman football material at U.S.C. will be called upon to do its best this afternoon on Soledad Field at 3 o'clock. The test will be in the nature of the freshman-sophomore rush, which should remind one of the historians of King Arthur's tournaments. The plan of battle will be conducted along the usual time-honored lines. A twenty-foot pole will be placed in the center of the football field and when the president of the senior class calls time, the two factions will be turned loose. They will be armed with tie ropes, the object being to tie up all the possible members of the opposite class and then plant the banner of the victorious clan on the top of the pole. This sounds easy, but there is a great deal of action required before the desired end is accomplished.

The campus is alive with yellow posters, the purpose of which holds ill to the freshmen. The ultimatum is as follows: "Ye tie-faceted babies, alias freshmen—black Friday is upon you, Friday the thirteenth. On that terrible day ye shall be led through a howling inferno. The 'Glorious Tophet' shall lead ye."

"Ye shall be bound and tied and the colors of the eternal 'S' shall fly over thy heads. Ye shall be superannated and taught thy place. Ye, ye shall be disgraced and torn limb from limb and then buried without a headstone to mark the dishonored spot."

"All this will be enacted on Ye Soledad Field as the clock strikes 3. Fail not to be there, lest a worse fate befall thee."

(Signed) "THE SOPHES." Yes, ho, the Black Hand is surely in our midst, but if you want to see some real hand-to-hand engagements just take a trip out to the Trojan field this afternoon. It is Friday, the Thirteenth, and if something does not happen to make a little history, the gods will have turned their faces from this mundane sphere.

Charming with a white lingerie frock are the various neck-pieces of black velvet ribbon. Many young girls affect the bands having a little cluster of tiny natural-colored flowers at the front, while others go in for the wide bows of the velvet ribbon which have a cross-piece of silk flowers.

YOU will know more about lead pencils than you ever did before if you read William L. Alderfer's article in The Illustrated Weekly this week.
